PRICE FIVE CENTS

LOCAL PARKING TO BE STUDIED BY TWO GROUPS

Gettysburg's parking problems are in for a joint Chamber of Commerce, Travel Council survey as a result of a decision reached by the Chamber directors at their meeting Monday evening in the C. of C. office in the Plaza building.

President Mares Sherman appointed LeRoy E. Smith, Nicholas Meligakis and Walter B. Lane as a committee to meet with the Travel Council committee headed by Thomas Metz to make a study of possible solutions of the parking problems. Also invited to sit in with the committees are the owners of the three parking lots in the central part of town, Joseph E. Codori, Wilbur Plank and S. F. Snyder. The joint committee will present recommendations to borough council.

Councilman Glenn Guise, who is chairman of council's safety committee and a member of the board of the Chamber of Commerce, said he would be "glad" to present to council recommendations by the joint committee.

Tourists Miss Much
Discussion on the parking problem began when Plank presented to the Chamber for its consideration and opinion a map of the community which he plans to send to bus companies and other tourists. The map is numbered to show the parking areas and the various historical points of interest in the community. Plank said, and the Chamber directors agreed, that many tourists miss many places of importance by reason of failure to stop in the borough.

The problem of buses on Lincoln Square was also discussed with Chamber officials pointing out that the present system by which "some-times ten to 20 buses" are in the square simultaneously, causes congestion and "because the buses want to get out as quickly as possible, the passengers do not get an opportunity to see Gettysburg."

The Chamber officials held "parking is going to be an increasingly difficult problem. The time to start a study is now."

Folders Ready Soon
Travel Council President, Donald V. Manning reported to the Chamber that the first lot of the 125,000 Gettysburg folders bought by the council will be available June 1.

Under a joint program worked out last month, the Travel Council is paying for the printing and the Chamber of Commerce is paying for the mailing of the folders to potential tourists.

David Blocher, president of the Retail Merchants Association, reported on that organization and on his visit to Frederick to represent the local Chamber of Commerce at a C of C event there.

Eight Films Ordered
Charles Bender was named chairman of a committee to study information sent the local chamber.

ROTARY IS TOLD ABOUT TURMOIL IN MIDDLE EAST

The "turmoil" in the Middle East "raises more questions than there are answers apparent," Chester Jarvis, of the Department of Political Science at Gettysburg College told the local Rotary club at its meeting Monday evening at the YWCA.

Introduced by Dr. M. L. Stokes, Professor Jarvis said: "The problems between Israel and its Arab state neighbors, the troubles of the French in Algeria, the problems of the British on Cyprus, attacks on American consulates and all the other troubles in the Middle East are related, but there are problems within problems, and problems between problems, and it is almost impossible to sort out everything and put a ticket on it, and thus it is impossible to find any easy and simple solution to the Middle East's difficulties."

"The sad part about it is that the wrong solutions could set off the spark that will cause World War III, while, at the same time, doing nothing is just as bad as reaching the wrong solution."

Sense Of Nationalism

"There is a sense of intense nationalism developing in the Middle East, but it is taking various forms. It is a sad commentary that the common enemy, according to the belief of the people of the middle East, are the very countries which are the leaders of the free world. To many in the Middle East England and France are the leaders of domination and imperialism, for that is the experience that the Arabs have had with them. They are not quite as hostile to the United States, but they blame the U.S. for helping England and France."

"Involved also are the problem of Israel, and the problem of oil, for the Middle East is wealthy in oil, and Britain and France need that oil. Russia also would like to (Continued On Page 11)

Gather Names For New Scout Troop

The Boy Scout Troop Committee of the Funtersdown Ruritan Club through its chairman, Ray Shupe, has issued a call for parents of all boys in the Funtersdown-New Chester areas between the ages of 10 and 14 and who are interested in joining a scout troop in that vicinity to phone or contact any of the following committee members prior to Friday evening: Ray Shupe, George E. Grube or David C. Myers.

Other members of this troop committee includes Walter Geiman, Rev. Amos Meyers, Dervin C. Wileman, George Deatrick, Clyde Decker and William Plank.

This committee is seeking the names, ages and addresses of any boys in the area interested in scouting, together with the parents' names. Following a committee meeting Friday evening with representatives of the Black Walnut Scout District, parents of the prospective scouts will be asked to meet later with the troop committee, to complete organization plans.

New Boy Scout Field Executive Begins Duties Here On June 18

Stanley C. Rogers, newly elected field executive for the Black Walnut Boy Scout district, is expected to report here June 18 to begin his new duties. District Chairman John C. W. Riddle announced today.

Rogers was elected to the new post last week at a meeting of the York-Adams Boy Scout Council executive committee. He will be the first full-time executive for the district.

For the last 25 years, since the York-Adams Council was formed, one field executive has served both the present Black Walnut and Conewago districts, formerly the Gettysburg and Hanover districts. Charles Bright, currently field executive for the two districts, will become full-time executive in the Conewago district with the arrival of Rogers.

Scranton U. Graduate

In connection with the proposed establishment of separate executives in the two districts a realignment was made at the beginning of this year which removed Littlestown from the Conewago district and placed it in Black Walnut, while the East Berlin area of Black Walnut district was transferred to the Conewago district.

The new executive for the Black Walnut district is 35 years old, married and the father of three children. He has had 20 years of experience in scouting, the last four years as a professional scout. As a volunteer he held every post in scouting up to district commissioner.

A graduate of Scranton University, where he received both a bachelor of science and bachelor of arts degree, he served in the U. S. Marines from 1942 to 1946, rising from private to first lieutenant. He specialized in industrial management and sociology at the university.

He is also a graduate of the National Professional Scouters Training School of the Boy Scouts of America and at present is a field executive for the Black Diamond district of the Susquehanna Valley area of the Boy Scouts. He is stationed at Shamokin, Charles Bright, current field executive here, also served a number of years ago in the Susquehanna Valley area and helped in establishing that council at that time.

Accident Victim Is Interred Today

Funeral services for Richard Thompson, 30, Gettysburg R. 4, who with Vernie J. Criswell Jr., 35, also of R. 4, was fatally injured when their truck upset Friday night at 11 o'clock near Granite Station, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Peters Funeral Home, Carlisle St., with the Rev. Harold V. March, pastor of Memorial EUB Church here, officiating. Interment was made in the National Cemetery.

Guards from the Honor Guard of the Albert J. Lentz American Legion post were on duty Monday evening at a largely attended viewing at the funeral home. The honor guard included Eugene Sickles, Billy Shealer, Lawrence M. Sheads, Nelson Groft, Edgar Bowling, Frank Linn, Harold Culp, Harold Stettin, Michael Tate, Donald McSherry, Perry Stauffer, Robert Fox Jr., Joseph Staub, Eugene Miller, Harold Small and Glenn Timmins.

Military rites were conducted at the cemetery today by the Honor Guard under command of Eugene Sickles.

Members of the firing squad included Bernard Knox, Lawrence Groft, Joseph Clabaugh, Donald Staub, Joseph Staub, Harold Stettin, Donald McSherry and Richard C. Cole; Michael Tate was bugler; color bearers were Harold Culp, Noel Flynn and Nelson Groft; color guards were Frank Linn and Perry Stauffer; Harold Wentz was flag bearer. Pallbearers were Edward Culp, Richard Fox, Joseph Smith, Donald Hershey, Paul Fox and Glenn Harner.

County Youth To Face Code Charge

John L. Herman, 16, Biglerville R. 1, faces a charge of failure to observe a traffic light in Carlisle Saturday night after he traveled through a red light and collided with another automobile injuring two persons.

Treated at the Carlisle Hospital Dispensary were Mr. and Mrs. George Reese of Shippensburg. Mrs. Reese suffered a contusion of the right leg while Mr. Reese was treated for a contusion of the back.

Police said Harman was traveling north on South Hanover, failed to observe the traffic light and hit the Reese vehicle which was moving east on Pomfret Street. The crash impact shoved the Reese car into an automobile parked on Pomfret Street and owned by Frances Myers, Carlisle.

MASONIC TRIP

Fifty-three members of Gettysburg Good Samaritan Lodge, F. and A. M. Monday evening traveled by bus to attend a meeting of the Tuscan Lodge No. 202, F. and A. M. at Baltimore. The Baltimore group will return the visit in June.

DR. W. J. GIES, COLLEGE GRAD, DIES ON SUNDAY

Dr. William J. Gies, 84, Lancaster, a nationally known bio-chemist, died Sunday at his home of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Dr. Gies, a former member of the Columbia University faculty, was instrumental in the formation of that institution's dental school and was a moving factor in the formation of the American Association of Dental Schools.

Dr. Gies was born in Reisterstown, Md. He graduated from Gettysburg College in 1893 and was a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. He received the doctor of science degree from the college in 1914 and a doctor of laws degree in 1924.

From 1894 to 1898 he taught at Yale University and joined the Columbia University staff in 1898 where he served until his retirement in 1937.

Congressman George A. Don- dero, of Michigan, who will deliver the Memorial Day address here, recently had caused to be printed in the Congressional Record one of the most human, interest (and perhaps the least known) stories about Abraham Lincoln. It was upon the occasion of the martyred President's recent birthday anni- versary when Dondero had the following submitted for the Record:

Mr. Speaker, this week the Nation will pause and reverently commemorate the birthday of one of the world's great men who served as a Member of this body. With him served another man who in his section of the country rose to fame and power. It is of those two Members of Congress that I desire to direct my remarks to the House.

In 1847 two men were elected to Congress from widely separated sections of the United States, one from the North, the other from the South. Strangely, they were of the same political faith. Both were Whigs. Both had become members of an exclusive political group called the Young Indians. One was far above average height, the other was a small or diminutive man. Both were intellectual giants. One was opposed to slavery, the other

A panel discussion on "Accomplishments of Party Issues" featured the regular monthly business meeting of the Democratic Women's Club of Adams County held Monday evening in the IOOF hall. Mrs. Norma Moore, president, presided.

In the discussion Mrs. Madge Mukley discussed mental health, child care and the legislative bill on youth rehabilitation. Mrs. Elsie Kimpke spoke on the parks program. Mrs. Esther Shultz spoke on the FEPC and comic books. Mrs. Lee Hartman talked about the industrial development authority and the commission to clean up sports.

Mrs. Moore talked on drugs and narcotic drugs on a national level, the governor's government reorganization committee and the increase in the legislators' salary.

Reports On Conference

Mrs. John S. Rice, who reported on the recent seven-state conference, discussed the police pension program, Act 215 which makes $500 million available to build schools in crowded areas and the library measure before congress.

Mrs. Laura Cratin was appointed to head the committee on food for the ox roast and rally to be held June 25 at the South Mountain Fairgrounds.

A donation was voted for Mrs. Grace Sloan, of Clarion, only woman candidate for Congress.

Mrs. Harold McCauslin was appointed chairman of the committee to sell donkey pins and salt and pepper shakers.

The June speaker will be Mrs. Ruth Grigg Horting, secretary of public assistance. The hostess committee will be Mrs. Laura Freed, Mrs. Fred G. Klunk, Mrs. Vesta Lings, Mrs. Evelyn Smith and Mrs. Slaybaugh.

TEACHERS ELECT P. S. BURKHOLDER

Paul S. Burkholder, 33 E. Middle St., fifth grade teacher and assistant principal at the Keefeauver Elementary School this year who has been designated as principal of the Meade school next fall, was elected as the new president of the Gettysburg branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Association Monday afternoon.

The election came at the final meeting of the Gettysburg teachers for the current school year. The session was held in the high school cafeteria after school with the retiring president, Paul S. Grove, presiding.

The other officers for next year are: Vice president, Jack Corbin; treasurer, Robert Diehl, re-elected, and secretary, Mrs. Elsie Swisher. Miss Ruth A. McIlhenry was elected as the unit's delegate to the state PSEA convention to be held at Harrisburg during the Christmas vacation and Ruth D. Bream was selected as the alternate delegate.

President-elect Burkholder appointed these committee chairmen: Social, John O'Brien, Richard Krick and Miss Eva Jane Schwartz, co-chairmen; Legislative, Miss McIlhenry; Public Relations, Donald A. Ulrich; Program, Richard A. Folkenroth; Membership and Welcoming, Miss Susan Wentz; Welfare, Mrs. Ruth Wisler; Professional Planning, Mrs. Anna Stahle; and Nominating, J. M. Sheads.

Four Are Injured In Sunday Accident

Four persons were injured in a two-car accident on the Lincoln Highway, four miles east of Chambersburg, at 10:45 p.m. Sunday. State police reported. All were treated at the Chambersburg Hospital and released.

Cletus J. Hess Jr., 36, of Mt. Holy Springs, driver of one of the cars, was treated for a laceration of the chin, abrasions of both knees and top of the head. He also had six front teeth knocked out.

John Rosensteel, 74, Gettysburg, R. 2, a passenger in the Hess car, suffered abrasions of the nose, right hand and right arm.

Isabel June Smith, 23, Shippensburg, driver of the other car, and her daughter, Judy Ann Smith, 6, were treated for shock.

Police said that both vehicles were traveling eastward, the Smith car traveling at a slow rate of speed preparatory to making a left turn. Hess, police added, was traveling 55 miles an hour at the time he noticed the Smith car ahead and applied the brakes but could not stop in time to avoid a collision.

Damage to the Hess car was estimated at $200 and to the Smith car at $500.

Gen. Paul To Attend June Alumni Events

Lt. Gen. Willard Stewart Paul (retired), who on May 5 was elected as the ninth president of Gettysburg College, will attend the Alumni collation on Saturday, June 2, it has been announced by John S. Rice, chairman of the board of trustees of the college, in a recent letter to alumni.

General Paul will be presented to the alumni at the collation at noon and will attend the reception-dance to be held that evening in the Plank gymnasium from 8:30 to 10:30 o'clock.

The baccalaureate and commencement exercises will be held on the following day.

200 MINISTERS AND LAYMEN AT SYNOD SESSION

More than 200 ministers and laymen of the Maryland Synod of the United Lutheran Church were gathered here today at the Church of the Abiding Presence on the seminary campus for the opening business sessions of the 137th annual convention of the synod.

Before the 195 voting delegates at the convention this afternoon was the question of whether to make the post of secretary of the synod a full-time position. Rev. Dr. Elwood S. Falkenstein, pastor of the Westminster Lutheran Church, now holds the position on a part-time basis. Discussion at this morning's session indicated that if the synod decides on a full-time position for secretary, Dr. Falkenstein will be asked to become the first full-time secretary.

Also before the convention this afternoon was a proposal to establish a synodical camp near Berkeley, W. Va.

To Hear Dr. Fry
Clerical and lay delegates from the eastern and western areas of the synod were being elected this afternoon.

Reports of various officers were presented to the convention today, and various committee appointments were being announced.

This evening Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, will be the principal speaker at a session at which new congregations will be received into the synod.

Monday evening the convention opened with a Holy Communion service at the seminary at which there were 153 communicants. Rev. Dr. J. Frank Fife, Baltimore, president of the synod, spoke on "The Wonder of The Church." Speaking of the mission congregations and "the mission mindedness of the parishioners in established churches," Dr. Fife dealt at length on the evangelism mission program being carried out throughout the United Lutheran Church in America this year and next.

HOME MOVIES BEING SOUGHT

Mahlon P. "Jim" Hartzell Jr., E. Lincoln Ave., was named chairman of a committee seeking home movies of Gettysburg.

Burgess William G. Weaver, chairman of the committee arranging for the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the borough, asked that persons having films, either eight or 16 millimeter, showing Gettysburg and activities here over the past years to notify Hartzell. If sufficient movies can be obtained, and the persons to narrate them a "Home Movie Night" will be scheduled as part of the anniversary observance.

"Many fine pictures have been made of activities in Gettysburg during the last decade or more," Weaver said. "We think that everyone will enjoy seeing themselves and other people of the town taking part in the various events in prior years."

"We hope to have available the county sesquicentennial film, and possibly the film of the AAUW and some of the outstanding football games of Gettysburg College. We are sure that many people in the town have taken movies of various events, from activities of their clubs or organizations, to dedications of various church buildings and other events. We hope that all will notify Hartzell of the films they can make available."

SYNOD DIVIDES EASTERN AREA INTO 2 SECTIONS

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—The Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America voted last night to split its huge Allegheny conference into two sections — an Eastern Allegheny conference from the 33 parishes in Blair, Clearfield, Huntingdon and northern Bedford counties and a Western Conference of 42 parishes that would include southern Bedford County and Cambria and Somerset counties.

Some 500 lay and clerical delegates voted down a proposal to include all ministers in a group hospitalization plan, deciding instead that each parish should make the decision on its own minister.

The synod, convening at Grace Lutheran Church, was told at the opening of its three-day meeting that present membership is 222,152, including 6,624 persons baptized in the past year.

New Parishes
Missions accepted as new parishes were Epiphany Church in Paxtonia, the Rev. Charles H. Ruby; Mt. Zion, Mt. Pleasant Mills R. 2, the Rev. Stuart Lengel, and Mt. Carmel at Oglestown, the Rev. Lee Hebel.

Accepted as new clerical members were: the Revs. Gerald E. Miller, Reedsville; Kenneth R. Anderson, Bellefonte; Robert C. Klingensmith, Lebanon; John M. Durand, Kenmar; John C. Pretz, Catawissa; Charles A. Souder, Berwick; Gerhard G. Dietrich, Palmyra; Ralph A. Greiman, Dillsburg; Philip S. Lambdin, Annville; Franklin Morris, Johnstown; and Frederick Coleman and Howard Brehm, both of Gettysburg.

Newly ordained ministers accepted were: The Revs. Raymond M. Roden, Lancaster; Paul W. Brouse, Watersville, Canada; Lee A. McDanel, Sunbury; Lee E. Snook, Orwigsburg; and Stephan A. Hahn of Malaya.

On The U. S. Political Front

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver — rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination — found themselves in broad agreement on domestic and foreign policy campaign issues today.

The two contenders held an amiable discussion on a national radio-television program last night in Miami. A hint of acrimony crept in only once.

Kefauver gently chided Stevenson for having said earlier that the Tennessee had been away from the Senate on a number of occasions.

Stevenson Apologizes
Kefauver said he thought Stevenson also quite likely had been away from his job as governor of Illinois during the 1952 campaign when Stevenson unsuccessfully sought the presidency.

Stevenson offered an apology. He said he had mentioned the absences only in answer to a reporter's question as to why Kefauver "had so little support" among fellow senators.

Both candidates emphasized the necessity of renewed efforts to gain a lasting peace and the need for American leadership. They agreed more federal attention must be given the farm problem.

Both agreed generally that the segregation issue can be solved in line with Supreme Court directives as they approached their only Southern primary test a week from today in Florida.

Both seek that state's 28 Democratic convention votes in the next-to-last big test before the national convention in August. They also are opposed in the June 5 fight for California's 88 Democratic delegate votes.

Both saw the dropping by the United States of a hydrogen bomb in the Pacific Sunday as a reminder of the vital necessity of gaining universal peace.

Six Properties Are Transferred

The following property transfers have been recorded in the office of the register and recorder:

Edmund F. and Christine E. Rosentel, Gettysburg, sold to Edgar E. and Nola F. Wolf, Cumberland Twp., for $9,400, two properties in Cumberland Twp.

Leroy H. and Gertrude A. Gumbrenner, Gettysburg, sold to Guy E. and Sarah A. Raffensperger, Franklin Twp., for $1,440, a property in Cumberland Twp. containing about one acre.

Robert C. and Frances E. McGlaughlin, Cumberland Twp., sold to Roy A. and Phyllis J. Heintzelman, Cumberland Twp., for $105, a property on a public road leading to Round Top in Cumberland Twp.

STOCKS SLIP AGAIN
NEW YORK (AP)—Another quiet decline in the stock market was under way in early afternoon today.

Prices of leading issues were down from fractions to around 3 points in slow trading.

The decline affected all major divisions. Gainers were few and far between.

SEEK GUNMAN WHO KIDNAPED 2 DETECTIVES

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Police today found a bullet-clip and a knife in the vicinity of Boomerstown, seven miles from here, which they believe was dropped by a gunman who held two detectives captive in their car yesterday during a gun-battle with police in a seven mile chase.

More than 200 state, local and volunteer police were searching over a wide area south and west of here.

Police said the gunman killed his companion yesterday, apparently by accident.

Identify Dead Man
Two handcuffed Jamestown detectives, kidnapped earlier, were in the back seat of the fleeing car. The dead man was tentatively identified as John Dedrick, 33, of Corning, N. Y., one of two men who escaped from Schuylker County jail in Watkins Glen, N. Y., over the weekend.

The other man, who police believe was the fugitive, was James Carter, 32, of Rochester. The men were being held for action on separate charges of larceny.

Held Up Detectives
Dets. Earl Stafford and Patrick Whalen said they were investigating a minor house robbery in Jamestown yesterday afternoon, when they sighted the two men walking on the street.

The pair resisted questioning, they continued, then held them up, manacled them with their own handcuffs, forced them into the detectives' car and fled westward.

An onlooker notified Jamestown police whose cars caught up with the fugitives outside of town.

The chase ended in a Boomerstown coal yard where the fleeing car turned and wrecked against a shed.

Detectives Unhurt
Whalen said the man beside the driver had been exchanging fire with police through the back window, shooting between Stafford and himself.

As the car stopped, Whalen continued, the man turned to shoot again, but, apparently by accident, shot and killed his companion instead.

Then, the detective added, he fled among the buildings of the coal yard and into the nearby fields. The two detectives were not injured.

Harry Is Tourist In Salerno, Naples

SALERNO, Italy (AP)—Harry S. Truman drove through Salerno today on a sightseeing tour of the Naples area.

Unable to take his customary brisk morning walk because of a bad ankle, Truman confined his stroll to a few steps across the street from his waterfront hotel in Naples.

The local National Guard conducted between 25 and 30 guests on an inspection tour of the armory at an "open house" held Saturday afternoon from 12 noon until 5 o'clock, in observance of Armed Forces Day.

The following members acted as guides: Specialist Third Class James F. Black Jr., Pvt. E 2 Arno H. Freidline Jr., Pvt. E 2 Donald J. Schratwieser, Specialist Third Class Baxter P. Harmon and Pfc. Larry R. Mummert.

Over $1,000,000 worth of National Guard equipment was on display. Exhibits included the following equipment: Three M-7 self-propelled 105 mm howitzers, three quarter-ton jeeps, two 2½-ton trucks, a three-quarter ton truck, the drill area of the armory, 22 caliber firing range, administrative offices, garage, locker rooms, supply rooms and all types of weapons, uniforms and other equipment maintained at the armory. Also shown were the equipment in the mess room at the armory and the training aids available for the members of the unit which now numbers 83 enlisted men and four officers.

DEATHS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
RAPALLO, Italy (AP) — Sir Max Beerbohm, 83, British satirist and caricaturist whose most popular books included "Zuleika Dobson," "Seven Men," "The Happy Hypocrite," "A Christmas Garland," "And Even Now," and "More," died on Sunday. He was born in London.

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Dr. William J. Gies, 84, former faculty member of Columbia University and a nationally known biochemist, died on Sunday.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Rev. Elmer J. Baumgartner, 62, manager of the Roger Williams Press of the North American Baptists, Inc., died Saturday. He was born in Erie, Pa.

REVERSED SIGN

QUINCY, ILL. (AP) — During a meeting of the city council, Alderman Richard Peters commented that the street and bridge department had done a fine job of repainting stop signs.

"But I wish they would work again on the one at the southeast corner of Eleventh and State. They put it back upside down," he said.

FAMILY NIGHT
SUPPER HELD

Approximately 60 persons attended the family night covered dish supper and program held in St. Luke's Union Church parish hall, near White Hall, on Sunday evening. The affair was sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society.

Prior to the meal, there was singing, led by the Rev. Oscar E. Freeman, pastor of the Lutheran congregation, accompanied by Miss Donna Lee Whisler. The invocation was offered by the Rev. William A. Edsworth Jr., pastor of the Reformed congregation. Prizes were presented to the following by Fred Hartlaub: Mrs. D. C. Shanesbrook, oldest person present, 86 years; Marian Kay Appler, youngest child present, six months; Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Shanesbrook, longest married couple, 45 years; Mr. and Mrs. Percell Worley, most recently married couple, seven months; Mr. and Mrs. Grant Appler and family, largest family present, seven members.

The program included: Vocal solo, "Tell Me, Do You Know Where God Lives?"; Sylvia Dayhoff; reading, "Growing Up," Mrs. Percell Worley; vocal duet, "Whispering Hope," Donna Whisler and Evelyn Breighner; piano solo, "To A Wild Rose," Evelyn Breighner, "Grandmother's On A Wintry Day," Mrs. Claude Flickinger; vocal solo, "How Can I Leave Thee," Judy Appler, accompanied by Sheila Appler.

Melinda Karns was leader and discussed the topic "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" at the meeting of St. John's Church Luther League on Sunday evening. The Scripture was read and prayer offered by the pastor, the Rev. William C. Karns. Routine business was conducted in charge of the president, Joyce Barnes. The meeting concluded with hymn singing and the benediction in union. Anne Karns will be leader for the meeting next Sunday at 6 p.m.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Christ Church met on Sunday evening, when the following program was presented: Group singing of "Bringing in the Sheaves" and "In Christ, There Is No East or West," with Joan Bair as pianist and Mrs. Ralph L. Snyder as chorister; Scripture, Freddie L. Dutterer; prayer, Leroy W. Berwager; hymn, "What A Friend"; cornet solo,

140 Scouts, Leaders
Take Nature Course

A total of 140 Scouts and leaders participated in the annual spring nature course of Conewago Boy Scout district Saturday and Sunday at Camp Conewago, Dick's Dam. Nineteen patrols quilled to attend the York-Adams Area council "Pioneers in Pennsylvania" camporee to be held on the Gettysburg Battlefield Friday and Saturday, June 15 and 16.

Those scoring more than 800 out of a possible 1,000 points received blue camporee neckerchief slides, while others attending received red slides.

Judges were George Ehrhart, Paul Krenzer and Frank Altland. John Huston served as camp director.

Sunday morning services were in charge of Kenneth S. Whisler, scoutmaster of Troop 116, Grace Reformed Church, Hanover, assisted by Ronald Brendle and Thomas Stehl, Troop 105, St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Hanover.

DELAYED RESTITUTION

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Hubert D. Marsh, operator of a drive-in sandwich stand here, received in the mail a package containing five forks, two cups and a knife all stamped with his name. After some study, he decided it was the type of silverware and china he had used about 20 years ago. There was no indication who sent them.

SPEEDING TO DEATH

DENVER (AP) — Speed was the No. 1 cause of accidents on Colorado highways in 1955. The State Highway Patrol's annual report showed speed caused accidents in which 125 persons died. The patrol said that of 14,087 hazardous violations issued against motorists, 3,620, or 25.6 per cent of the total, were speeding. Next to speeding, improper turning was the second greatest cause of fatal accidents.

Robert Markle, topic, "We Support Missions — The Gospel and Indian Americans," discussed by the pastor, the Rev. G. Howard Koons. Business was in charge of the new president, Robert Markle. Shirley Ger-rick, secretary, gave her report. The meeting concluded with the singing of "Till the Whole World Knows," "The Lord's Prayer" and C. E. benediction in union. The group will meet Sunday at 7 p.m.

S.S. CONVENTION IS HELD SUNDAY

The Sixth District Sunday School convention was held in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Arendtsville, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The theme of the convention was "Dear Lord, Lead, Send, Bless, Use Us."

The service opened with an organ prelude by Mrs. Barbara Lawver, Biglerville, followed by song service led by Kenneth Alwine, Biglerville. Devotions were led by Rev. Robert Shaul, pastor of the host church, Miss Barbara Freed sang "I Walk With God."

Fourteen of the eighteen Sunday Schools in the district responded to the roll call.

Special music was rendered by the Children's Choir of Trinity Lutheran Church under the direction of David Bushman. The choir sang "My Task" and "God So Loved the World."

There was special music by the Bethel Ladies' Quartet, of Mummaburg, composed of Miss Esther Musselman, Mrs. Arthur Musselman, Mrs. Coffman Shenk and Mrs. Willis Breckbill. They sang "Come Holy Spirit" by Gluck-Adams and "Arm These Thy Soldiers" by Carrie Adams.

The address was given by Rev. Willis Breckbill, pastor of Bethel Mennonite Church, Mummaburg, who used for his theme "The Sunday School, a Door to the Church." He said, "We are concerned not about the number in our Sunday School but about the quality of life of our Sunday School members." He cited four responsibilities:

"To teach the children the authority of God's Word.

"To teach Bible truths in our Sunday School lessons so that our children will be prepared for the pastor's sermon which will follow.

"To develop an appreciation of, and devotion to God's Word.

"To present ourselves as ideals — to present Christ in ourselves."

J. Hoke Slaybaugh, president of the district, presided.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Henry W. Sternat, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Biglerville.

LINCOLN

The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln ever built

People who know fine cars are changing to Lincoln

More fine car buyers are changing to Lincoln this year than ever before in Lincoln's entire history—because they recognize that this longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time is unmistakably . . . the finest in the fine car field.

Naturally, most of these people are turning to Lincoln because of its fresh, trend-setting new styling. But after owning Lincoln, they praise this car's other fine qualities.

They tell us—time and time again—about Lincoln's exceptional handling ease. They're surprised that such a big, roomy car can be so effortless to drive—and that wives actually prefer this Lincoln over the family's smaller car.

They tell us about Lincoln's outstanding performance, too—in dozens of ways. Those who have never experienced Turbo-Drive are astonished to find that an automatic transmission can be so smooth . . . and those who take long trips say that this Lincoln makes the ride seem so much shorter.

And they tell us about roadability. They like the way Lincoln rides so firmly through a curve—and the freedom of taking any road they choose . . . instead of avoiding the bad ones.

If you've been thinking this is your kind of fine car, stop in and see us. We'll put a new Lincoln at your disposal any time you say.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Republican Convention: The County Convention for the purpose of selecting two delegates to represent Adams county at the state convention to be held at Harrisburg, June 5th, Congressional Conference, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented, will be held in the Court House at Gettysburg, Pa., on Monday, May 28th, at 10:30 a.m.

The primaries for the election of delegates to this Convention will be held on Saturday, May 26th, at the usual time and place.

Our esteemed neighbor, the East Berlin News, was fourteen years old on May 13th. The paper is a good local sheet and we hope for its continued success.

Wedding Bells: Rickrode-Barnhart — John Rickrode and Miss Nancy Barnhart, both of Irishtown, were united in marriage at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday morning in Cone-wago chapel by Rev. George Brown.

Miss Lillie Barnhart and David Barnhart, daughter and son of the bride, attended the couple.

Trostle-Donnelly: The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rhodes, at 1724 North Sixth street, Harrisburg, was the scene of a pretty wedding last Wednesday afternoon, May 9th, at 4 o'clock, when C. E. Trostle, of York Springs, (a brother of Mrs. R.), was united in marriage to Miss Millie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Donnelly, of Mt. Holly Springs. Rev. Amos Stamets, pastor of the Augsburg Lutheran church, performed the ceremony.

The groom is one of York Springs' estimable young men and holds the position of clerk in G. W. Emmert's store.

The bride is one of Holly's fairest and most popular daughters.

McCarney-Miller: Rev. John C. McCarney, son of Mr. and Mrs. McCarney, Carlisle street, was united in marriage to Miss Beulah R. Miller, of Seven Stars, on last Wednesday, May 16th by Rev. D. T. Koser.

Rev. McCarney has a charge at Goldsboro, York county. The bride is well known in this place.

Swope-Schultheis: John H. Swope, of this place, and Miss Irene C. Schultheis were united in marriage last Wednesday evening at the parsonage of Grace Reformed church, Washington, D.C., by the pastor, Rev. Dr. John M. Schick. The young man has been employed for several years in the printing department of the U.S. Geological Survey. The young couple will continue to make their home in Washington.

Memorial Day: Notwithstanding the fact that the Chief Executive of the United States was the orator here last Memorial Day, the coming 30th promises to be one of the greatest days in the history of Gettysburg.

The various committees have been working arduously to appropriately celebrate the day. At least a half dozen bands are expected here. The Citizens' Band of Hanover has been engaged to lead the procession and the Firemen's Band of the same place is also expected. Neighboring Grand Army Posts will be present, as well as veterans from a distance. There will be at least ten excursions here, coming from various points.

Everybody should make an effort to hear Colonel McClure, who is widely noted for his ability as an orator, and his address here will, beyond doubt, be one of best ever delivered from the Rostrom.

A noticeable feature this year will be a floral float handsomely gotten up with all kinds of flowers. These flowers will be arranged in bouquets and when at the cemetery they will be taken from the wagon and given to the school children to strew over the graves of the dead heroes. This float will be most beautiful and costly. Florist Cremer has been engaged to prepare the float at a cost of at least $100.

Coming Weddings: Mr. and Mrs.

Today's Talk

PATTERNS

I know I shall never cease to wonder at the endless patterns in nature—the leaves of trees, shrubs, flowers, vines and the composition of stones. And all through nature there seems to be an inter-related spirit and resemblance.

Pluck an oak or maple leaf. Examine its perfect design — always alike if the variety is the same. Note that it has a circulating system to its life, quite like the one in our body. A tree breathes, too. And I have often imagined that all trees have a silent language and a voice of their own. They stand so proud and dignified, so ready for conversation!

Another source of patterns and designs of the most beautiful character are the shells to be picked up on the seashore, and gathered from many places from deep in the sea. There is always beauty to each pattern and design. There are thousands of them and I have often wondered why so many varieties exist. Why can't we appreciate more the beauty and perfection that nature offers to us?

I marvel at the beautiful pure white pond lilies that bloom from black mud holes and almost stagnant bodies of water. Yet there they are, smiling in the sunlight of the morning, and celebrating the kinship in all nature as each sparkling dewdrop melts its life into that of the green earth all about.

How can anyone doubt God, the Creator, when there are so many examples of his love and consideration wherever there is earth or water? Even after seeing so much, and reading so much about what we have seen, and have not seen, we know so little. How ignorant we are! And yet the more we know, the more we are stimulated to know more. There's plenty of vacant space in everyone's brain for every bit of knowledge!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Helping Hand Protected, 1956, By The George Matthews Adams Service"

BRAVES MOVE INTO EBBETS FIELD TONIGHT

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Braves and the Brooklyn Dodgers, each with a slew of slumping sluggers but right in the thick of the congested National League pennant race, get a chance tonight at Ebbets Field to see how the other guy has managed to stay healthy.

Manager Charlie Grimm's Braves, the NL leaders on a percentage basis, are batting a respectable .276 as a unit as they open the two-game set with the Dodgers, yet only Billy Bruton is hitting over .300. And Billy's away ahead of his mates at .394.

Hank Aaron, after a promising spring training performance, is only .282. Ed Matthews is .256. So is Bobby Thomson. And Joe Adcock is only .197.

Cards Beat Giants

Yet the Braves have managed to hold a slim edge over the St. Louis Cardinals, who are tops in hitting at .285 and have the likes of Rip Repulski (.404), Ken Boyer (.365) and Wally Moon (.355).

The Cards won the only game in the NL yesterday, beating the New York Giants 4-1, but still are 19 points behind the Braves.

In the single American League game, the New York Yankees defeated the Kansas City Athletics 8-5.

Aiston Patiently Waits

St. Louis' victory edged them ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who despite a lackluster 250 team batting average are but seven percentage points behind the Cardinals. Which may explain why Manager Walt Aiston can contemplate his world champions philosophically.

"There's little we can do about the fellows who aren't hitting except be patient and wait for them to come around as Snider did," says Aiston. "They'll break loose eventually."

Snider cracked his slump eight games ago. He was hitting .223. Now it's .323—with 17 hits in 32 at bats, seven of them for extra bases, and 11 runs batted in. Pee-Wee Reese (.319) is the only other Brook over .300, although Junior Gilliam is .299.

Roy Campanella is hitting .253. Jackie Robinson .230. Gil Hodges .229. Carl Furillo .222.

Mizzell Gets Giants

The Cards maintained their hitting lead with eight safeties in salvaging the finale of a three-game set at the Polo Grounds. Repulski and Bill Sarni homered, while Bobby Del Greco smashed a 400-foot triple.

Vinegar Bend Mizell, going the distance for the first time this season, got the Giants on a four-hitter for his third victory against two defeats. He had a two-hit shutout until Don Mueller's homer in the seventh.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Win Leaderships In Legion Tourney

TAMAQUA, Pa. (AP)—East Green ville bowlers took over the Class A team and individual leaderships during the fourth weekend of competition in the state American Legion tournament.

W. Moyer took the all events lead on a total of 1,722 and helped his East Greenville teammates to first place in the team events with a total of 2,731.

The only other standings changes were recorded in Class C. Tamaqua took the team lead with a total of 2,543; J. Petro of Tamaqua rolled 510 for the singles lead, and Art Kraft and G. Blitz, of Milford, rolled 1,010 for the doubles leadership.

LAY PLANS FOR ALL-STAR TILT

NEW YORK (AP)—This year's All-Star game will be directed by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick with the cooperation of American and Canadian newspapers and radio and television stations.

Frick announced that his office would serve as a clearing house for the ballots yesterday, replacing The Chicago Tribune, which originated the balloting in 1933. The Tribune withdrew this spring.

Frick said the voting will open June 1 and end at midnight June 22 at the local level. Final tabulations must be received at the commissioner's office by midnight June 26 and will be announced shortly thereafter. Some 500 newspapers and stations have indicated they will take part in the poll.

This year's All-Star game is set for Washington July 10. Fans will select the starting teams for both leagues except for pitchers, who will be chosen, as usual, by the managers—Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees for the American and Walt Aiston of the Brooklyn Dodgers for the National.

Reading Man Tops PGA Tournament

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—Henry Williams Jr., of Berkeigh C. C., Reading topped six qualifiers in Philadelphia area regional play for the national PGA tournament with a 2-over-par 71-71—142 for 36 holes at the Concord Country Club yesterday.

Tied for second place, one stroke behind Williams, were Philadelphia PGA titlist Stan Dudas, North Hills; Teri Johnson of the Du Pont (Wilmington, Del.) C. C., and Mike Rooney of Wrightsville's Cool Creek.

Skee Riegle of Radnor Valley and Buddy Heckman, Manor, each had a 145 to round out the qualifiers.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

PITCHING — Wilmer Mizell, Cardinals, checked the Giants 4-1 on four hits, holding them scoreless on two hits for seven innings, for his first complete game of the season.

HITTING — Mickey Mantle, Yankees, drove in winning run with his 16th homer, also doubled in his two official trips and scored three runs in 8-5 victory over Athletics.

The Split T formation was introduced by Coach Johnny Vaught in the south in 1948.

St. John's Lutheran Church, Abbottstown, Wipes Out Debt

St. John's Lutheran Church, Abbottstown had a special bond-burning and thanksgiving service completely eliminating the indebtedness on the congregation, caused by the erecting of an educational building.

Martin Alleman, treasurer of the building fund, presented the bond to Richard Hoke, lay president of the Council. The picture was taken a moment after the pastor, Rev. L. J. Karschner had ignited the bond using a candle from the altar.

Ground was broken on March 28, 1954, on the sixty-fifth anniversary of the present church building. The cornerstone was laid on June 5 of the same year on the fifth anniversary of the present pastorate. The building was dedicated on March 13, 1955.

The cost of the entire project was $53,600. This included the erection and furnishing of the building, and equipping a church parlor. The congregation had $10,000 toward the cost when the contract was awarded to I. H. Crouse and Sons of Littlestown. The Lutheran Laymen's Movement provided advice and guidance for the fund raising program. Approximately 100 members of the congregation served on committees. This congregation of 350 communicating members brought contributions which amounted to $44,600 in 100 weeks, making it possible to pay the indebtedness and have a balance toward the renovation of the church sanctuary.

Within the past seven years, the adult Church school room was redecorated and an acoustical ceiling placed. An automatic gas heating system was installed. An addition was placed to the church building and one of the sexton's house. The parsonage was renovated, the parking facilities enlarged, the grounds landscaped and a memorial entrance dedicated at the cemetery.

NEW BATTLES ON COMPULSORY UNIONS SEEN

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Management and organized labor pledged new battles today over compulsory union membership after a Supreme Court decision sanctioning the union shop in the railroad and airline industries.

Spokesmen for management said they would continue to fight for state and federal laws to ban union contracts requiring workers to be members and pay dues to labor unions.

Union sources, on the other hand, expressed renewed determination to scrap against enactment of any such new bans and to work for repeal of present "right-to-work" laws in 18 Southern and Western states. These laws say membership or nonmembership in a labor union shall have no effect on a person's right to hold his job.

Ruling Monday

The Supreme Court ruled unanimously yesterday, in reversing a Nebraska Supreme Court decision, that state "right-to-work" laws don't apply to workers in the railroad and airline industries.

The situation stems from the fact that Congress, in enacting the Taft-Hartley labor-management law in 1947, sanctioned the union shop, but allowed individual states to outlaw it. Eighteen states did so.

Under the union shop arrangement in an employer-union contract, the employer agrees that all his workers, as a condition to holding their jobs, will become union members within a specified time after being hired, usually 30 days.

What prompted the case decided by the Supreme Court yesterday was a 1951 amendment to the Railway Labor Act. This amendment permitted the union shop in the rail and airline industries "notwithstanding" what the states might do. These two industries do not come under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The high court ruled that Congress, in regulating commerce, could exempt rail and airline workers from a state "right-to-work" laws.

This means the railroad and airline unions can go ahead with their union shop contracts in the 18 "right-to-work" states. Besides Nebraska these include Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nevada, North and South Carolina, North and South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah and Virginia.

Management moves were forecast to try to get Congress to let "right-to-work" states ban the union shop in the railroad and airline industries. Conversely, labor union officials expressed renewed determination to try to change the Taft-Hartley law to permit the union shop everywhere.

Potatoes mounds are always popular. To make them beat an egg into two cups of seasoned mashed potatoes. Drop a couple of heaping tablespoons of the potato mixture onto a buttered baking sheet to form a mound, swirling top; repeat with rest of potatoes. Bake in a hot oven about 10 minutes, remove with a wide spatula and serve at once.

Gettysburg High School rang down the curtain on its 1956 baseball season by dropping an 8-7 decision to Shippensburg on the latter's field Monday afternoon in a South Penn League game.

Seven runs in the last of the sixth inning turned the trick for the Greyhounds but they had to scrap to the finish as the Warriors nearly pulled the game from the fire with four runs in the top of the final frame.

Following the game Fred Furney, a senior and first baseman in the team, was elected as the honorary captain for the season.

Monday's game was a fine pitcher's duel between Tom Kitzmiller of the Warriors and Ben Gribble of Shippensburg until the wild final innings. Going into the last of the sixth Gettysburg held a 3-1 edge.

Coach Howard Shoemaker's team tallied a run in the first on a single by Gary Keefe, a fielder's choice and a single by Roland Keller. A single by Sowers, an out and an error enabled Shippensburg to knot the count in the second.

The Warriors picked up two runs in the fourth on a walk to Bobby Hess, Harmon Spence's sacrifice, two fielder's choices, an error and a wild pitch.

Shippensburg came up with seven runs in the last of the sixth when the Warrior defense committed four miscues which combined with four hits and a walk to produce the runs. During the inning Earl Little, Warrior second baseman, suffered a dislocated elbow when he was bumped while taking a throw.

The Warriors made a valiant attempt to win the game in the seventh when they scored four times. Jim Gilbert walked and Rolf Johnson, batting for Keefe, was hit by a pitched ball. John King and Roland Keller followed with singles. Hess walked and then the attack bogged down as Spence asked to center and Hankey and Cullison whiffed.

Gettysburg wound up its season with a 4-6 record.

FABIUS GAINS REVENGE WIN IN PREAKNESS

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fabius romped to a two-length length revenge victory in the Preakness Saturday setting up a rubber meeting in the Belmont Stakes with Needles for the third jewel in horse racing's triple crown.

Needles had beaten Fabius six times, the last in the Kentucky Derby, and was expected to make it No. 7 with another stretch run. The script unfolded in the Preakness as expected. D. G. Arnstein's Elfin Blue shot out ahead of the pack of nine starters. Fabius, after stumbling, took up his scheduled place in third and Needles fell in at the rear.

Late Drive Failed
They went that way for three-quarters of a mile going into the second turn for home. Jockey Willie Hartack took up Fabius then and when they hit the head of the stretch they were ahead by 3 lengths.

Jockey Dave Erb, meanwhile, picked up his cue and started to move Needles. They went inside four horses, wheeled outside three more and were aimed down the middle of the stretch at Fabius.

Here it comes, thought the crowd of nearly 30,000, as they began screaming in anticipation of the famed late, breath-taking rush by Needles. But halfway down the stretch it was evident the "punch" wasn't there this time. Fabius prevailed by nearly 2 lengths to become the fourth straight Derby runner-up to recoup in the Preakness. He was the fifth Calumet Farm Preakness winner.

PROBERS CLAIM SALARY METHOD OF FISH GROUP IS INCOMPLETE

By DICK HOENIG

HARRISBURG (AP)—A legislative investigating committee, reporting on a year-long study of Pennsylvania's wild life resources, Monday found fault with the State Fish Commission's salary practices.

"In summation of the whole Fish Commission salary situation this committee believes the problem is still with us," declared the final report of the House Wild Life and Conservation Committee. The findings were prepared for submission to the House's final session today.

"We find no complete reclassification schedule in existence at this time which would give each and every fish employee the picture he needs to boost his morale and spur his efforts," the committee said.

It added that "it is hoped" such a reclassification will be made before the end of the year.

Held Dozen Meetings
The committee conducted about a dozen meetings, mostly last year, looking into all phases of the state's outdoor resources and their proper use for the benefit of the public.

Many sessions were devoted to the Fish Commission salary setup. Other findings of the committee: 1. Game Commission enforcement officers make "far too many arrests for mere technicalities" and "it is apparently commission policy to continue making them."

2. Further legislative investigation into the Game Commission's game food and cover program would prove "interesting and highly valuable."

3. Recent legislation earmarking royalties, and rentals from natural gas production on state land for conservation, dams and flood control and recreation "will mean the construction of many large multipurpose recreation centers within reach of great segments of Pennsylvania citizens."

Regret Buller's Leaving
The committee noted "with regret" the resignation of C. Ross Buller, chief fish culturist and a Fish Commission employee for over 40 years.

"Whether or not it (the resignation) was under pressure this committee was not called upon to decide," the report states.

The committee found that "no definite course" has been followed by the commission in setting up a standard classification chart. "This naturally led to a lowering of fish personnel morale because employees could not look forward to improving their lot."

On the other hand the committee expressed "approval and satisfaction" with the Game Commission's salary and personnel program.

The committee reported that the deputy game protector force "could be reduced to around 600 men with little ill effect on the game commission's law enforcement activity." But it added that it learns "with regret" the commission plans to depurate nearly 100 men.

"Also the game commission's rigid system of revoking hunting licenses from one to three years for any and all game law violations should be thoroughly investigated," the report continued.

"Such a system could serve the purpose much better if each were highly flexible."

SPORTS IN BRIEF
NEW YORK—Associated Press statistics showed Bob Keegan of the White Sox leading American League pitchers with a .58 earned run average in 31 innings and Tom Poholsky of the Cardinals leading the NL moundmen with a 2.39 mark in 43 innings.

NEW YORK—Mickey Mantle of the Yankees tops American League sluggers with a slugging percentage of .883. Dale Long of the Pirates is the NL leader with .741.

CHICAGO—The Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League bought goalie Harry Lumley and forward Eric Nesterenko from Toronto.

NEW YORK—First Aid ($31.40) came on fast in the stretch to capture the $24,000 added Rosebush Handicap at Belmont.

BALTIMORE—Nick Jimmie ($6.20) scored a three length victory in the Gulfport purse at Pimlico.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Tanana's ninth-inning double last night put the Reading Indians back in Eastern League contention.

The two-bagger, scoring Mitch June and Maury Truss, enabled the Indians to defeat the visiting Binghamton Triplets 6-5.

The victory put the Indians only 14 percentage points behind the Albany Senators, who held the lead until last night.

The Senators were knocked down to third place when the Grays whipped them 5-4 at Williamsport. All five of the Gray runs scored during a seventh-inning rally, highlighted by Chuck Buheller's two-run single and walk with the bases loaded, given up by Albany's Don Robinson.

The Schenectady Blue Jays, who defeated the host Johnstown Johnnies, 5-3, now are tied with the Grays for first place.

At Albion, the Syracuse Chiefs scored a 2-0 victory over the Redbirds.

SIX-PLAYER SWAP PLEASES ORIOLES, SOX

By JOE MOOSHL

CHICAGO (AP)—Both the Baltimore Orioles and the Chicago White Sox were pleased today over their six-player swap in which third baseman George Kell and pitcher Jim Wilson were key men.

Baltimore gave up Wilson and outfielder Dave Philley yesterday for Kell, outfielder Bob Nieman, pitcher Mike Fornieles and a player to be named next week by the Sox.

"We wouldn't have made it if we didn't think it would have helped us," echoed both Paul Richards, field and general manager of Baltimore, and White Sox Manager Marty Marion.

Got Kell For Base Hits
"We think it'll add punch to our lineup," said Richards. "Both Kell and Nieman are good hitters and we need hitting. This'll give us balance."

"Sure I think the trade helped the Sox," said Richards. "They need another starting pitcher and Philley can play regularly with any club."

Asked if he acquired Kell for purposes of making him Baltimore's field manager when Richards decides to sit back and hold down only the job of general manager, Richards said: "We got Kell for base hits."

Wanted Wilson
Main target of the White Sox was Wilson, 34-year-old right-hander who pitched a no-hitter for Milwaukee against Philadelphia in the National League two years ago. Wilson is 4-2 this year after posting a 12-18 mark at Baltimore last year.

"We had to have another starting pitcher to go along with Billy Pierce, Bob Keegan, Dick Donovan and Jack Harshman," said Marion, "and we needed a pitcher more than a third baseman."

"We'll go along with Sammy Esposito at third and we also have Fred Hatfield to fill in."

Switch Today
Marion said Philley will give the Sox added power and balance since he is a switch batter and he's also a "better outfielder than Nieman."

Philley, 36, is batting .205 after a 299 season last year. He has played some third base for Baltimore and the White Sox when he wrote a Chicago uniform from 1946-51.

All the players involved in the deal will switch uniforms for tonight's game between the Sox and the Orioles. Nieman and Kell are expected to be in the Baltimore lineup and Philley will probably be in right field for Chicago.

CHARLES LOSES BUT WANTS TO KEEP FIGHTING

NEW YORK (AP)—Ezzard Charles won't quit. A slow motion picture of the "Cincinnati Cobra" of old, the former heavyweight champion insists he will keep on fighting "as long as I feel good."

Charles had just lost a fight last night to Wayne Bethea, a pro only 21 months. He sat on a long wooden bench in his drab basement dressing room at ancient St. Nicholas Arena and talked about himself.

He'd Rather Fight
"I've got three apartment houses and I own two other houses," he said. "Without fighting I probably would get $150 to $200 a week. But to go into something like collecting rent isn't for me. I still want to be with it."

"The writers used to burn me up with their stories about how I really didn't want to fight. That was the thing I really wanted to do."

Staggered Bethea
How long would he keep it up? As long as he could go?

"I wouldn't put it that severe," he said. "I'll go on as long as I feel good."

Charles, who will be 35 July 7, had no quarrel with the three officials who voted unanimously 7-3 for Bethea. Still he almost pulled it out with a right-hand punch that staggered Bethea in the 10th round but time ran out on him. He weighed 195, or 15 pounds more than when he won the title in 1949. Bethea weighed 199.

BRAGAN SAYS EXPERIENCE IS PAYING OFF

By GIB STALEY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Experience his young players gained in the minor leagues is beginning to pay off for the Pittsburgh Pirates, says Manager Bobby Bragan.

The freshman skipper of the Pirates was grinning from ear to ear in the dressing room on Sunday after his young club beat the Milwaukee Braves 6-3 and 5-0 behind the pitching of Bobby Friend and Ronnie Kline. Friend's victory was his sixth against two defeats.

Rapidly becoming one of the most popular men in this baseball happy town, Bragan said there's no particular magic with the 15-12 record his team has compiled to put it in fifth place — only one game out of first.

Long Hitting 398
"The boys have come of age. They feel at home in a big league uniform," Bragan said.

The 37-year-old manager bubbled with enthusiasm over the size of the crowd—32,346 and the largest here in five years. And he almost drooled over the hitting of his big first baseman, Dale Long.

Long, now hitting at a .398 clip, drove in seven runs in the doubleheader to give him 11 RBIs in his last three games. He's hit an even .500 in those three games and had a homer in each, boosting his season's output to nine.

Better Than '55
"Bobby put me in the cleanup spot and it's my job to drive in runs," Long said. "I'm just hitting the ball solidly—that's all."

A year ago Monday the Pirates had won only 11 of 32 games, were in seventh place 13 1/2 games back of the Brooklyn Dodgers and destined to finish last for the fourth consecutive season.

Jim Beatty of North Carolina has won the two-mile races two straight years in the Penn Relays.

Nashua's Winnings Go Over Million

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Nashua, the world's most famous and expensive thoroughbred, may have been a clown a year ago, but he's the most solid citizen in the financial circles of horsemanship today.

The strapping bay 4-year-old colt is Mr. Moneybags himself—the biggest money-winning horse in history. Further, he's one of sport's greatest attractions, a colorful and powerful running machine who has rivaled the turf popularity of such recent stars as Citation and Native Dancer.

His victory in the Camden Handicap Saturday brought his total earnings to $1,000,365 — $14,605 more than Citation, whose mark he had been chasing. The race, at a mile and one-eighth, was worth only $22,750 to Nashua—not much these days—but it pulled him past Citation. The Camden was Nashua's 24th start and his 19th victory.

PCC RULING COULD WRECK UCLA ON GRID

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—The University of California at Los Angeles was reeling today from a new blow to its athletic solar plexus, an eligibility ruling by the Pacific Coast Conference which could wreck its 1956 football team.

The conference, which had put UCLA on athletic probation for three years at an earlier session, yesterday docked all players of the 1955 varsity and freshman football teams one year of eligibility.

There was an exception. Those who can prove they received no "under the table" funds will be restored to full eligibility.

Held 'Too Harsh'
Dr. Joseph Kaplan, UCLA's official representative at the conference meeting, advised the eight other reigning professors that he was declaring every athlete at his school ineligible. UCLA had been ordered, when placed on probation to wash its athletic linen and show the laundry ticket to the conference.

Such a quick response was not generally anticipated. The conference decided the penalty was "too harsh" and only the football department should feel the whip.

The result was a resolution snipping off the year of football eligibility.

Asked if he could field a team next fall, Coach Red Sanders said it was possible "but the humane society might object."

4-MIN. MILE NO GREAT FEAT LANDY INSISTS

NEW YORK (AP)—John Landy, Australia's world champion miler, must hear the same questions every place he goes.

How fast can the mile be run? Who can do it? Why can't an American break the 4-minute mile?

A slender man in a tweed suit, Landy met New York sports writers yesterday for the first time and charmed them with his ready answers and warm smile.

Can't Set Ultimate
Running the mile under 4 minutes (Landy has done it six times, including a record performance of 3:58) is not a great physical feat, he insisted. "Nothing like putting the shot 60 feet," he said. "I could do it once, maybe twice a week, if I had to make a living that way."

The feat of breaking the 4-minute mile, considered the track barrier only two years ago, doesn't interest Landy any more. He is more interested in "the ultimate."

"It is possible now for the top six or seven men to run the mile in 3:55," he said. "But it is not possible to set the absolute ultimate."

Cites Possibilities
"There might be discoveries in vitamins, diet and training to lengthen out some of the great speed men into longer distances, men like your Arnie Sowell (Pittsburgh half miler). They might establish records that would push the present-day milers into the three-minute category."

In addition to Sowell, Landy mentioned UCLA's Bobby Seamon, already a 4:01.4 miler, as "the best mile prospect in the world on sheer physical ability." He rated Ronnie Delaney of Ireland and Villanova as an outstanding runner and said Wes Santee, banned by the AAU, never reached his full potential.

The men he said might run 3:55 miles were Merv Lincoln of Australia, Ken Wood and Brian Hewson of England, Gunnar Nielsen of Denmark, Lasso Tabori and Istvan Rozsavolgyi of Hungary. Modestly he didn't name himself.

BLAME 'GUY DOWNSTAIRS' FOR WAR FEUD

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—It must have been those fellows downstairs.

That was the gist of a news conference at which the very highest brass in the Pentagon yesterday got together to play down reports of conflict among the armed services.

Over the weekend some newsmen obtained documents indicating disagreement among the Army, Navy and Air Force on the part each thinks it should play in any future war. This was a fire Secretary of Defense Wilson wanted to put out in a hurry.

Calls News Conference
He conceded as much. He said reports of conflict "can become serious matters." To show everything was in harmony at the highest military levels he called a news conference in the Pentagon Auditorium.

He was flanked on both sides by the civilian secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force and by the chiefs of staff of the three services, resplendent in uniforms, brass buttons and ribbons.

Who wrote the documents, from which the news stories quoted, indicating disagreement among the services? Those documents showed the Army critical of the Air Force and the Air Force critical of the Navy and the Army.

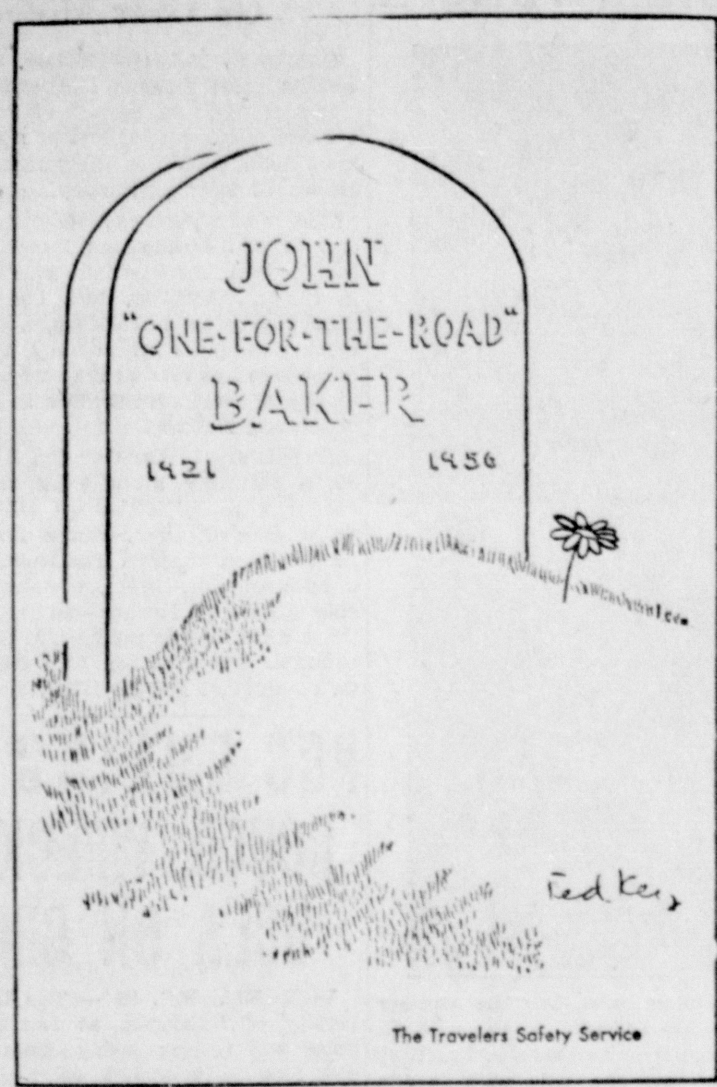

Deny Entanglement
Not the chiefs of staff. They didn't do it. They said so. They said they didn't have any basic disagreements. Well, then, who wrote the documents?

Wilson said they were the work of men lower in rank than those around the table. They were, he said, "staff papers that reflect the view of individuals who worked on them and not necessarily the approved policies of the services." No one indicated any desire to punish any of those people downstairs for letting the cat out of the bag. They indicated it was not really a full-sized cat.

A congressional investigation, where each of the secretaries and chiefs of staff could be quizzed separately, might reveal more than came out of the news conference yesterday.

Fatal Fallacies

by Ted Key

Nevertheless, this seems clear enough from as much of the conflict as has been disclosed:

The world is entering a period when even the best military minds can't be sure what form a future war will take. That was plain enough before this new public disagreement.

The emphasis right now is on air power, nuclear weapons and missiles. If the United States and Russia reach a point where they could destroy each other—with air power, nuclear weapons and missiles — they probably won't start that kind of war on each other. But just to discourage each other from starting such a war they will have to retain big air power, nuclear weapons and missiles into the foreseeable future as a deterrent.

And to be sure neither side will develop something so new and devastating that it might win a war if the other side didn't have it, both sides will have to keep on developing more powerful and terrible weapons.

This doesn't rule out war altogether. If there is an air-nuclear-missile stalemate, there may be smaller wars—like Korea—where the big powers hold back on the all-out weapons, for fear of retaliation, and use the conventional kind.

In that kind of war the Army would probably have to be bigger than it is now. Or would it? Or if one side started the small war would it do so with a willingness to make all-out war if it started to lose the small war?

The Pentagon brass may be in agreement on the plans they make for a while but they can't be any more sure of the future than a civilian.

PASS DEFICIENCY BILL

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Senate yesterday approved a bill to make a $50,000 deficiency appropriation to the Elwyn Training School, Delaware County.

The measure originally called for a grant of $110,000 but was chopped by the House. The measure was sent to the governor.

GORE TO ADDRESS DEMS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) will be principal speaker at the $100-a-plate fund raising dinner of the state Democratic party Wednesday at the Farm Show Building.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, said Monday the Democratic State Committee also will hold its reorganization meeting on the same day.

LEGISLATURE IS EXPECTED TO QUIT TONIGHT

HARRISBURG (AP)—Only a $600,000 difference on how much state aid municipalities should receive for sewage treatment separated the Legislature from final adjournment today.

Leaders on both sides said flatly there was no chance this comparatively minor item — still in disagreement between the House and Senate — would delay the windup late today or tonight.

The lawmakers had planned to ring down the curtains last night on the longest session in the history of the commonwealth bill.

The Senate appropriated $2,600,000 for allocation to communities for maintenance of sewage treatment works. The House changed the figure to $3,200,000.

The House also knocked out a provision which would have permitted the cost of sewage treatment plant construction between 1920 and 1937 to be calculated as a basis for paying out the state aid.

House Democratic Leader Readinger insisted that both branches would hear the sound of the final gavel by the end of the day.

The same sentiment was expressed by Senate Republican Leader Mahany.

The printer spent all night on the general appropriation measure after House and Senate conferees agreed on a new compromise figure yesterday.

Chairman Polen (D-Washington) of the House Appropriations Committee said nearly all of the 17 million dollars slashed by Senate Republicans was restored.

The biggest cut remaining intact is the entire 4 million dollars originally intended for redeeming stamps under the 3 per cent sales tax law.

Polen said the new over-all figure in the general appropriation bill now runs about 146 millions. That compares with nearly 152 millions as originally passed by the House and 134½ millions fixed by the Senate.

The Revenue Department's appropriation for everyday operations was restored in full. The Senate had cut it 7½ millions.

The second largest Senate reduction — more than 3½ millions for the Forests and Waters Department — also was restored in the compromise.

Other departments restored practically to House-approved figures were Commerce, Internal Affairs, Justice and Labor and Industry.

House-Senate conferees also agreed upon a final figure of $22,213,400 for state aid to hospitals for the current two-year fiscal period, and $796,000 for state-aided homes.

MILE-HIGH SCHOOL

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Albuquerque claims what may be the only exactly-one-mile-high junior high school in the nation.

Principal Glen Borland of Monroe Junior High said a recent survey showed the 5,280-foot mark just outside the front door of the school.

PARTIES SPLIT OVER BLAME IN RECENT DISPUTE

HARRISBURG (AP)—A Senate investigating committee today disagreed along party lines on whether Gov. Leader should be indirectly blamed for "breakdown of law and order" in Mercer County during the five-month Westinghouse strike.

Republicans said the governor refused to answer pleas for state police aid but Democrats said Leader's hands were tied in that respect—that he couldn't under state police regulations.

Senate Democratic leader Dent said he agreed generally with a Republican-written report except a section which attacked Leader

Given Life Term For Man's Murder

For the first time in five years a sentence of life imprisonment for first degree murder was passed in the York County court Monday.

The pale, unassuming defendant, neatly dressed in a dark suit and tie, with a white shirt and handkerchief in his breast pocket, never changed his expression as Judge Ray P. Sherwood, spoke, in a matter-of-fact voice, the fateful words, "at hard labor and solitary confinement for the rest of your natural life."

This was the penalty set by the jury that found Lawrence P. Rozinski, Mt. Union handyman, guilty last August 25 of the April 28, 1955, murder of Dallas N. Shumaker, 63-year-old Dillsburg service station attendant.

for not sending state police help. "I also believe local responsibility was not used to the fullest extent," he told a newsman.

Dent said he would file a separate report. He made the statement minutes after Sen. Fleming (R-Allegheny) made public the GOP report and announced that he expected Dent would sign it.

The committee noted the governor refused to answer pleas for state police aid in force at Sharon and declared:

"The committee is of the opinion that the presence of the highly respected state police in uniform on official duty in the strike area would have had a quieting influence to preserve and keep the peace."

It asked the Joint State Government Commission to make "a thorough study" of the entire problem of the duties of state police in responding to requests for aid.

CIVIL RIGHTS BILL ENDORSED BY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON (AP)—A majority of House Judiciary Committee members endorsed the Eisenhower Administration's civil rights bill today as an effort toward "the great American ideal of equality under law."

But seven Southern committee members—six Democrats and one Virginia Republican — denounced the bill as "absolutely shocking." They said it posed a "Frankenstein" threat against state and local governments.

The majority and minority reports reflected deep differences over the volatile civil rights issue. The minority report was made public yesterday.

The bill, drawing more than usual attention this election year, was approved by the 32-man committee April 25. The vote count was not announced at the time.

Awaits Clearance
The measure still awaits clearance by the House Rules Committee. Whether it will be sent to the House and win passage there remains to be seen. In any event, it is believed unlikely to pass the Senate, where Southern filibusters have doomed other civil rights measures in the past.

The committee majority, Republicans and Democrats outside the South, said, "The purpose of this legislation is clear:

"It is to make more certain that rights guaranteed by the Constitution and law of the United States will be enjoyed by all, regardless of race, creed, color or national origin."

"It is directed at no particular section of America. Certainly, no area of the country can claim achievement of full equality under law."

The seven dissenters said the proposed civil rights commission would "open up a Pandora's box," while the proposed new division in the Justice Department would be designed, they contended, to "invade" state and local jurisdictions in such matters as integration, education and primary elections.

HARRISBURG (AP)—It was up to Gov. Leader today to decide if the administrative structure of should be investigated as proposed by the General Assembly.

The house yesterday approved 196-1 and sent to the governor a bill to appropriate $50,000 to conduct the study which could result in reorganization of county school systems.

Rep. Auker (R-Blair) cast the only negative vote.

HAGERTY SAYS HEALTH ISSUE LEGITIMATE AND ANSWERS READY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, agrees with some Democratic spokesmen that the President's health is a "legitimate issue" of the upcoming presidential campaign.

And Democratic backers of Adlai Stevenson were hailing Stevenson's presidential primary election victory over Sen. Estes Kefauver in Oregon Friday as signaling a Stevenson "groundswell" "that cannot be stopped."

Hagerty was interviewed by Representatives Boggs and Ebert, Louisiana Democrats, on a television show transcribed for use by a New Orleans station.

Agreeing Eisenhower's health is a fit topic for political discussion, he added: "We will have legitimate answers and complete medical records to show the condition of the President at any time during the campaign."

Plans Other Exams
He had said earlier Eisenhower would undergo one or two further physical examinations during 1956, but did not specify any dates. The found in good physical condition last weekend.

In other weekend political developments, James A. Finnegan, campaign manager for Stevenson, called Friday's Oregon results a "smashing victory" paving the way "for Stevenson triumphs in the Florida (May 26) and California (June 5) primaries."

Stevenson and Kefauver again clash head on in both elections, the last big hurdles in the Democratic intraparty struggle. The two candidates are set for a joint discussion in Miami tonight on a nationally televised program.

An Associated Press tabulation showed, meanwhile, that Stevenson now leads the Tennessee senator 148½ to 127 in pledged and publicly committed delegate votes for the Democratic nomination. A total of 686½ is required for nomination.

Stevenson and Kefauver are expected to split Florida's 28 Democratic convention votes, but in the California test the winner gets all 68.

SAY CIGARETTE SMOKE DOESN'T HURT HEALTHY

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
NEW YORK (AP)—Cigarette smoking doesn't harm the mechanics of breathing in healthy persons, and may even help, two Boston physicians said today.

But smoking usually does have adverse effects on persons with heart or lung disease, they said.

Preliminary results of the smoking study were described today to the National Tuberculosis Assn. by Doctors Ernest O. Attinger, research fellow in medicine, and Dr. Maurice S. Segal, clinical professor of medicine, Tufts University School of Medicine.

Some Improvement
They measured the rate of air flow and air pressures in the lungs both before and after people smoked one or two cigarettes.

Normal persons showed no significant change in the elasticity of the lungs or in mechanical resistance to the movement of air on taking or expelling a breath. There appeared to be some improvements in certain aspects of lung ventilation, Attinger and Segal said.

Others Share Blame
But in persons with heart or lung ailments, there was usually an impairment of the mechanics of breathing. It might be only temporary, the physicians said.

Polluted air must take some of the blame for the soaring rates of lung cancer, although smoking may be related to the rise also, said Dr. Leonard Greenburg, commissioner of New York City's Department of Air Pollution Control. There is good evidence that cancer-causing chemicals come from exhausts of autos and other engines, he said.

GIVES NO WORD ON RED REBUFFS

PARIS (AP)—Back home from Moscow talks, Premier Guy Mollet had nothing to say publicly Monday about Soviet rebuffs to his overtures on the Algerian crisis. He planned to make a detailed report to President Coty and the Cabinet.

"Such trips are useful for peace," Mollet said on his return. He added that they "aid in making disappear the climate of mistrust."

The Algerian bloodshed continued without letup. In Algiers, French officials reported nationalist raiders killed four men, six women and seven children—all Arabs—on Sunday in one village. They also told of finding the bodies of 20 young French soldiers ambushed 25 miles outside Algiers. The French said their troops in a mop-up of the Palestro ambush area had killed 50 rebels and 200 suspects.

News Briefs

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Minnie Mangum pleaded guilty Monday to embezzling $1,082,938.25 from her employer, the now-defunct Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn.

The 52-year-old spinster stood in a crowded courtroom and made her plea in a low voice.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau Monday estimated the U. S. population April 1 at 167,440,000, including armed forces overseas. The bureau said this was a gain of 16,306,000, or 10.8 per cent, over the 151,132,000 April 1, 1950, when the latest census was taken.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The body of a 61-year-old man, missing from home since March 12, was found along the Susquehanna River at nearby Paltmouth by two teen-age boys.

Police Chief Charles Laux of nearby East Pennsboro Township, identified the man as Jacob K. Schell, Camp Hill R. 1. His body was found Saturday by Glenn Seiders and Robert Hipple, both 14 of Elizabethtown R. 1. Laux said the cause of Schell's death was unknown.

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—E. Wilson Groover, Lewisburg R. 1, injured Friday when a truck and two cars collided on Rt. 15 just north of here, died in Lewisburg Evangelical Community Hospital on Sunday. He was a passenger in the truck.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Three small boys on Sunday discovered the body of Reggie Struzer, 35, of Inkerman, near Pittston, who was reported missing May 9 when his car was found near Schick-shinny by state police.

The body was in the north branch of the Susquehanna River in the Briar Creek borough section. The victim, unemployed and crippled by polio since his youth, is survived by a widow and five children.

WAVERLY, N. Y. (AP)—A two-car collision on Rt. 17 just east of Waverly on the Pennsylvania state line on Sunday killed Daniel Brown, 37, of Athens, Pa. Injured were Howard Baker, 21, Nichols; Gladys J. Brown, 37, Bernard Vallée, 43, and Stanley Grimley, 55, all of Athens.

385 CONFIRMED
HARRISBURG (AP)—The sacrament of confirmation was administered on Sunday by the Most Rev. Lawrence P. Schott, auxiliary bishop of the Harrisburg Roman Catholic Diocese, to 385 adults from 62 parishes in the 15-county diocesan area.

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Express said Monday three junior British intelligence service officers concerned in the disappearance of frogman Lionel Crabbe have been transferred to other government departments.

Naval veteran Crabbe vanished while diving in Portsmouth Harbor near the Russian cruiser which brought Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party Chief Nikita Khrushchev to Britain for a state visit in April.

CHILD LIVES THREE YEARS WITH LEUKEMIA

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Leukemia, a blood cancer, found Joseph Ware an unwilling prey.

The chubby 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ware of Ardmore, Okla., already has recorded "unheard of" accomplishments. He arrived at the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation Hospital with acute leukemia when he was 4 months old and has survived the blood cancer attacks.

He has received no treatment since Sept. 1, 1953 but "we are still unwilling to say he is cured," Dr. Leonard P. Elie, research director and cancer section chief, said.

Use New Drugs
Ten years ago, this would have been "unheard of," according to Elie, because before the development of a battery of new drugs, the average victim of acute leukemia lived but three to four months.

Two companions have joined Joseph Ware for the treatment. One is Candy Craven, 3-year-old daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Glenn Craven.

Franklin McSorley of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission said Monday financial trouble developed on the state's dream road with the passage of a bill permitting trucks to carry heavier loads.

The turnpike commission has announced it is putting revised toll rates in effect Friday. The new schedule increases passenger car tolls 42 per cent and cut truck tolls 21 per cent when vehicles travel the extent of the 408-mile system.

of Midwest City, Okla. Her case was diagnosed last November and she was released from the hospital after two months.

Two other youngsters recently underwent leukemia treatments as part of the hospital's program. One is Candy Craven, 3-year-old daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Glenn Craven of Midwest City, Okla. Her case was first diagnosed last November and she was released from the hospital two months later. However, like Ware she is still under careful observation by the doctors.

The third is little Richard McLure, hospitalized April 9.

Seek "Chronic Form"
Ironically, 3-year-old Richie is the son of Lawrence McClure, a biochemist in the foundation's cancer section who concentrated on leukemia studies.

In cases of previously untreated child leukemia patients, Elie's group is trying at least to convert the disease to a chronic form enabling the patient to "live with" his cancer for years.

Agents used are commonly employed against leukemia. But the strategy here is to concentrate a triple attack with a combination of three substances given simultaneously.

Growing Normally
First, the doctors try to reduce the leukemia cell "population" by hitting it with cortisone and ACTH. Then researchers level combined doses of 6-mercaptopurine, aminopterin and azaserine at the remaining cells.

Researchers believe if each drug slows the cancer in a different way, it might be more effective "to put up three roadblocks instead of one to keep it from taking a detour."

Apparently neither the disease nor the highly toxic treatment has affected Joseph Ware's health. "As far as we can tell he is growing normally," Elie said. "He looks like a future football star."

VOTE MILLIONS TO PENNSY FOR FLOOD CONTROL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Approximately 14 million dollars for Pennsylvania flood control and navigation projects was approved by the House Appropriations Committee Monday.

Including projects in nearby West Virginia and Ohio in which Pennsylvanians are also interested, the total is more than 24 million dollars.

The money, appropriation of which is subject to House and Senate approval, is for the year starting July 1.

With one exception, the approved amounts are those recommended by President Eisenhower. The exception is Dyberry reservoir near Honesdale. Eisenhower recommended $600,000 for this project. The committee voted none.

There was no immediate explanation for the committee's action on Dyberry, but questioning by committee members during a hearing on the project indicated that some members felt that work on Dyberry might be deferred until after the nearby Prompton reservoir is built.

Construction Work

These amounts were approved for construction:

Bear Creek reservoir, Luzerne County, 2 1/4 million; Bradford, 1 1/2 million; Presque Isle Peninsula, Erie, $380,000; Prompton reservoir, $550,000; Reynoldsville, $378,000; Stillwater reservoir, near Forest City, $600,000; and Swofersville-Forty Fort, $625,000.

Approved also was 6 million dollars to begin deepening to 35 feet the Delaware river channel between Philadelphia and Trenton, and $1,060,000 to complete dredging the Marcus Hook and Mantua-Creek anchorages in the Delaware river near Philadelphia.

Planning Funds

These planning funds were approved:

Allegheny River reservoir near Warren, $394,000; Allentown, $70,000; Bethlehem, $90,000; and Kettle Creek Dam on the west branch of the Susquehanna river, $96,000.

The committee also approved these amounts for navigation projects that are outside the state but which Pittsburgh area residents are particularly interested in:

New Cumberland locks and dams, Ohio River, 8 million, and Hildebrand lock and dam, Monongahela River, 2 million.

The amount approved for New Cumberland is the revised amount recommended by the President's Budget Bureau. The original recommendation was 10 million. Reason for the reduction, the Army Engineers explained, is that work on relocating Ohio state highway No. 7 was delayed by bad weather

Tune In WGET, 1450 On Your Dial

(Continued from Page 1) opposed secession. They became warm and intimate friends and remained so until death. One was destined to become the President of the United States, the other Vice President of the Confederacy. One was to be assassinated, the other was to become a political prisoner of the Government he had once served. One was Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois, the other Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia.

When they parted in the House of Representatives in 1849, 16 years were to elapse before they met again. It was at night, on board a gunboat in Hampton Roads, Va., February 3, 1865. The occasion was the famous peace conference which accomplished nothing toward ending the Civil War. Lincoln and Secretary of State Seward represented the Union; Stephens was one of the delegates representing the Confederacy.

May I interject here that if it had not been that Abraham Lincoln knew that his former colleague in this House and his warm, intimate friend, Alexander Stephens, of Georgia, was to one of the Confederate commissioners, in my judgment Lincoln would never have agreed to that conference that night on board the gunboat down in Hampton Roads.

When these talks ended, we can hear the President turning to his old friend and saying, "Alec, is there anything I can do for you personally?" Stephens informed Lincoln that he had a nephew who was a prisoner at Johnsons Island in Lake Erie near Sandusky, Ohio, but his family had heard nothing from him—could Lincoln find out something about him and get word to him that his people at home were well? But Lincoln had his own idea.

Two days later Lt. John Stephens, of the Confederate Army, arose as usual to begin the depressing routine life of a prisoner. He had done so for more than two years with no hope of change. He was standing in his bunkhouse near the stove trying to keep warm—the thermometer registered 20° below zero. An orderly appeared at the door informing him to report at once to the commanding officer. His surprise was great. What did the commander want of him? He had known of other prisoners who had been called out and never heard from again. Was he to suffer the same fate? With the orderly he went to the commander where a still greater surprise was in store for him. He was shown a telegram which read:

Washington, D. C.
February 4, 1865

Officer in command at Johnsons Island, Ohio: Parole Lt. John A. Stephens, prisoner of war, to report to me here in person, and send him to me. It is in pursuance of an arrangement I made yesterday with his uncle, Hon. A. H. Stephens. Acknowledge receipt.

A. Lincoln.

Wrapped in buffalo robes, placed on board a bobsleigh drawn by two mules across a frozen Lake Erie in subzero weather, was an experience undreamed of by this Confederate soldier. To be ordered to report to the President of the United States in person at the Nation's Capital was beyond the imagination of a son of the South in the Confederate service.

Ushered into the presence of Abraham Lincoln, Lieutenant Stephens observed that he was lying full length on a long office table with his elbow on his hand, talking to Mr. Seward, who was seated in a chair. He was cordially received and introduced to the Secretary of State. Lincoln suggested that if he had friends in Washington to pay them a visit and then report to him. No guard was necessary; he was under parole to the President of the United States.

Five days later Lieutenant Stephens reported and found Mr. Lincoln alone. Lincoln talked about his uncle, their association in Congress, and their friendship. He handed the young Confederate officer a short letter for his uncle, which read as follows:

Executive Mansion
Washington, February 10, 1865
Hon. A. H. Stephens:

According to our agreement, your nephew, Lieutenant Stephens, goes to you bearing this note. Please, in return, to select and send to me that officer of the same rank imprisoned at Richmond whose physical condition most urgently requires his release.

Respectfully,
A. Lincoln.

Turning to his desk he took from a pigeonhole a small photograph of himself, autographed it, and handing it to Stephens said:

Suppose you take this along with you. I don't expect there are many of them down South.

Young Stephens was carried through the lines, arrived at his Georgia home during the first week in May, 1865, and delivered Lincoln's letter to his uncle. By then the war was over. Lincoln was in his grave. Alexander Stephens became a fugitive, was arrested and carried a political prisoner to Fort Warren in Boston harbor.

One of the most touching incidents in all our history is the scene in the cell at Fort Warren on the morning of June 1, 1865. Alexander Stephens, vice president of the late Confederate States, is awaiting his fate. This prisoner who opposed secession and loved his Nation made an entry in his diary that morning. It is the day set apart by President Andrew Johnson decreed as a fast day in memory of Abraham Lincoln. The entry in Stephens' journal for that morning reads:

Rose early. As it is fast day and mourning in memory of Mr. Lincoln, I requested Mr. Geary, the corporal, to bring me from the suppler's nothing but a cup of coffee and rolls.

We can almost hear the spirit of Lincoln whispering "This hath he done in remembrance of me."

The letter relating to the release of Lt. John Stephens and the autographed photograph handed to him by Mr. Lincoln were framed and hung on the wall of the Stephens home in Georgia for over 70 years as a silent reminder of one of the most unusual events in the history of the United States. This little-known, if not unknown, story of the generosity and the kindly impulses of Lincoln has a sequel.

Thirteen years later, on February 12, 1878, the famous oil painting of the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation, in which Lincoln is the central figure, was presented to the

PLAN VETO OF LEADER'S MEN

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Senate Republican leadership made it clear Monday that two nominations by Gov. Leader for important state posts would never be confirmed in the current General Assembly session.

Senate Republican leader Mahany said Senate confirmation would never be given to Joseph Sharfstein, Philadelphia, as a member of the Public Utility Commission, and John A. Smith, Dickinson, for the Milk Control Commission.

Mahany also tagged a "questionable" label on the confirmation chances of Leader's appointment last week of John F. Byrne, Philadelphia councilman, to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

Termed "Questionable"

In addition, there are 68 other Leader appointments to various state agencies and boards of institutions that still have not received Senate sanction.

"I doubt if there will be any more confirmations by the Senate," Mahany said.

However, under state law, Leader may reappoint his choices after the General Assembly adjourns.

In that case, the terms would expire automatically at the end of the next Legislature unless confirmed.

Government of the United States by a Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson. This picture now hangs in the old Supreme Court chamber in the Capitol Building in Washington. On this occasion, Alexander H. Stephens who had been reelected to Congress from Georgia was chosen to deliver the acceptance speech on the part of the Government. In that address will be found this tribute by Stephens to Lincoln:

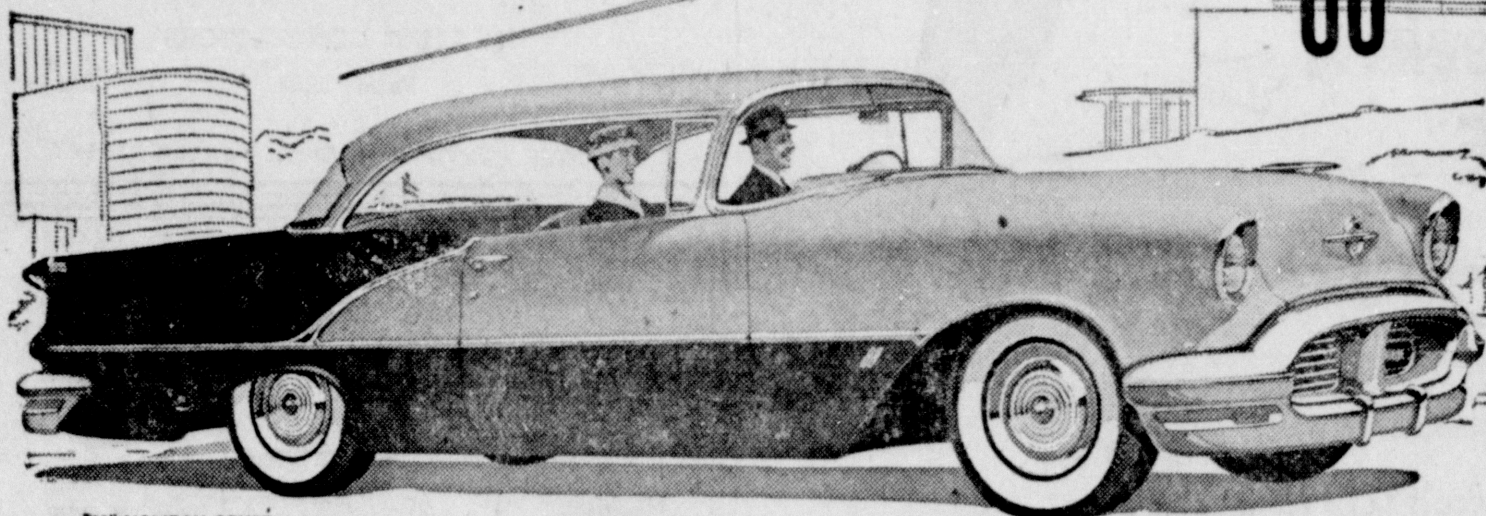

He was warm hearted; he was generous; he was magnanimous. Every fountain of his heart was overflowing with the milk of human kindness.

That was the tribute of Alexander H. Stephens, onetime vice president of the Confederacy, to the President whom even the rancors of Civil War could not turn against an old friend.

CONGRESS MAY AIR ARMY ROW WITH AIR FORCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—There were some indications Monday that Democrats in Congress will move to air fully and in public a row between the Army and the Air Force over defense spending and strategy.

The row flared up Saturday — Armed Forces Day, which is supposed to be dedicated to unity of the military services. While they across the country, some sources in the Pentagon gave newspaper documents declaring that present emphasis on air power could lead only to "national disaster."

Secretary of Defense Wilson promptly announced he would look personally into this "most unfortunate business." He said the armed services "don't have to practice psychological warfare on each other."

Mixed Reaction

Reaction among Congress members was mixed. Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) said such rivalry between the services "keeps them from getting sloppy." Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.) called it "a healthy thing." Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said service rivalry has led to "waste and duplication," particularly in the missile field.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told an Armed Forces Day audience at Ft. Campbell, Ky.:

"One sure and certain way to reduce our military capacity is to permit the existence of an imbalance between the priorities and funds allocated to the various branches of our armed forces. . . .

"I most respectfully request the President to use all the powers of his office to bring about a proper balance. . . . It is a situation which only the commander in chief can resolve before it reaches the proportion of a national scandal."

Mahon, chairman of a House committee which handles the defense budget, said on a CBS radio-television interview yesterday. "This thing is going to be busting out all over until . . . some decisions are made."

He said he had hoped that the Joint Chiefs of Staff would have made before now decisions on the missions of the different services — "these basic explosive questions which are smoldering in the Pentagon," Mahon added, however.

News Releases Cause

"I am not in agreement with those who have deplored the fact that this controversy is out in the open. It should have been out there before. It should be kept there until these issues are resolved."

Touching off the new row was

FAIRFIELD — A joint meeting of the members of Fairfield Fire Co. and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fire Company will be held on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the fire hall. All members are urged to be present to discuss further plans for the carnival.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith have returned to their home in Altoona after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Straup.

Mrs. William Neely, Girl Scout Troop committee president, presided at the meeting held in the Girl Scout room last Thursday evening. The troop committee will sponsor a roller skating party for the Girl Scouts and Brownies Thursday evening, May 31. The girls will leave from the town school at 6 o'clock and will be transported by bus with the scout leaders and troop committee members accompanying the group.

The "Court of Awards" program will be held at the Girl Scout Camp, "Happy Valley," Sunday, June 24, at 2:30 p.m. Committees appointed by Mrs. Neely were: Refreshments, in charge of Mrs. Clarence Wilson and Mrs. Harry Kane, and program, in charge of the Scout leaders. The "Court of Awards" is an annual affair held by scout troops at which time badges earned, pins and promotions in scouting are awarded. Mrs. Robert Willis, Brownie Scout leader, will entertain the Brownies at a wieners roast and picnic to be held at her home Wednesday afternoon from 4 until 5:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bushey and daughter, Barbara, will leave Thursday morning for Notre Dame, Ind., to attend graduation exercises for their daughter, Patricia, who will be graduated with a degree in music from St. Mary's.

Warrant Officer and Mrs. Ray Musselman and daughter, of Washington, are spending a month's leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Musselman.

The release of various Army papers to reporters for several newspapers, including the New York Times, New York Herald-Tribune and St. Paul Pioneer Press. One of them said in part:

"We continue to pour excessive manpower and money into an air force which has been substantially neutralized and which pleads for more money, more money, more money. We continue to divert large quantities of our military manpower into a navy that is seriously threatened by a nation with practically no naval experience or tradition."

TANKER, YACHT CRASH IN RIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—The Coast Guard started an inquiry Monday into the collision of a small tanker and a 33-foot cabin cruiser in the busy East River. One woman died and five persons were rescued in the crash off 51st Street.

The 180-foot tanker M. J. Derby II knifed into the cabin cruiser Escape II on Sunday afternoon in view of thousands of New Yorkers.

The tanker, whose crew apparently was unaware of the collision, carried the small boat pinned to its prow for nearly 100 yards. The cruiser then slipped free and was swamped in the swirling water.

The six occupants of the cruiser, all New Yorkers, were pulled into the river.

One of those picked up, Mrs. Ruth Nettles, 27, failed to respond to artificial respiration and was pronounced dead an hour after the accident.

SENATOR DUFF NOT EXPECTED TO QUIT FIGHT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Duff (R-Pa.) is reported to have considered withdrawing as a candidate for re-election because of an intra-party defeat suffered Saturday in Philadelphia.

However, a source close to the senator conceded on Sunday it is now "a very outside chance" he would not run.

The source described Duff as very disappointed over election of George I. Bloom, Washington, Pa., attorney and aide to Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) as chairman of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn., withdrew as a candidate for re-election to the national committee.

The election of Jay Cooke, former Philadelphia GOP chairman, in O'Leary's stead, was considered a move that might pacify Duff, Cooke, however, opposed Duff's candidacy when he first sought the senatorial nomination.

Duff was represented as not being opposed to Bloom personally but because of his identification with the Grundy wing of the party, opposed by Duff for many years. O'Leary has been the leader of that faction.

CONSIDER DRAFT EXEMPT IN STATE

HARRISBURG (AP)—Fathers and all men over 26 will be draft-exempt in Pennsylvania if the military situation remains stable says Col. Henry M. Gross, director of state Selective Service.

But Gross declared that under the new regulations from Washington the chances of the remaining eligible men to escape the draft will be much slimmer than they were a year ago.

Pennsylvania's manpower pool, without fathers and men over 26, now totals 77,250, large enough to meet the commonwealth's draft calls in the foreseeable future, the director declared over the weekend.

The federal regulation removed 8,435 fathers and 897 older men from the state's 1A pool.

CHAVEZ GOING TO INVESTIGATE ARMY-AF ROW

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Chavez (D-NM) said today a Senate Appropriations subcommittee he heads will investigate a row among the armed services over basic defense policies.

Secretary of Defense Wilson had sought to avert an inquiry by calling top civilian and uniformed officers of the three services yesterday to a joint news conference designed to play down the squabble.

Wilson said he doesn't think a congressional investigation is needed or that it would do any good.

"Like Prima Donnas" "I wouldn't think so," he said in reply to a question. "I have confidence that I'm getting my military advice from the right people. I think the country thinks so too."

Chavez, who had said earlier he thinks top officials of the Army, Navy and Air Force are acting like prima donnas, told a reporter today:

"We plan to have the high brass of all three services in here, and ask them why is it they are bickering."

A "Little Hurricane" Wilson described the new public row as a "little hurricane" and said he wants to end it before it becomes serious. "I think," he said, "the eager beavers are gnawing down some of the wrong trees." He declined to elaborate.

Wilson was flanked at the news conference by the secretaries of the three services and the four members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"There will always be some differences of opinion within and between the services in connection with military operations," he said. "Honest differences and reasonable competition between the military services are healthy and will result in a stronger defense establishment."

Not Good For Country "It is not good for the country, however, to have the differences, some of which are set forth in confidential staff papers, aired on a basis of service partisanship."

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the Army and Air Force chiefs of staff disavowed much of the material that had become public over the weekend purportedly representing their services' views.

One document which pictured the Army's Nike antiaircraft missile as ineffective was specifically disavowed by Twining and Secretary of the Air Force Quares. Twining also described as not an official Air Force document a paper questioning the value of the Navy's aircraft carriers.

Wilson said some of the "leaked" documents "are staff papers that reflect the views of individuals who worked on them and not necessarily the approved policies of the services."

Woman Pilot Is Killed In Crash

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—In a tragic aftermath to the 7th International Women's Air Race, Mrs. Marjorie Miller of Reynoldsburg, Ohio, was injured fatally Sunday night attempting to land her plane on a naval airstrip 20 miles west of Havana.

Mrs. Miller's co-pilot, Bonnie Butler of Zanesville, Ohio, was seriously hurt.

Mrs. Miller and Miss Butler were en route to Havana from Varadero Beach after placing 14th in the air race from Hamilton, Ont. Mrs. Marion Schorr Betzler of Columbus, Ohio, won the 1,526-mile race, which ended Saturday.

QUARREL WITH CLERK LED TO FRAUD ARREST

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A bright young girl who knew what book-keeping was all about may have been the downfall of Minnie Mangum, the million-dollar embezzler.

The 52-year-old spinster with the kind heart pleaded guilty yesterday to taking $1,082,868 from the Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn. of Norfolk over a 22-year period.

As assistant secretary-treasurer Miss Minnie handled the books and liked to hire girls who knew "her system" of card accounting.

Quarreled Over Card Last September she hired Mrs. Robert G. Cannon, wife of a sailor stationed at the big naval base here. Mrs. Cannon, 21, had worked at a building and loan firm back in her home town of Waukegan, Ill.

From the start, she didn't like the way Miss Minnie handled the accounting system.

One day in November, while a group of state auditors were in the office, the two women quarreled over a missing account card and Mrs. Cannon called Miss Minnie a liar for saying she didn't know about the card.

Fifteen minutes later Mrs. Cannon was out of a job. But she told the auditors all she knew.

And on Dec. 16, they swooped down in a surprise check on Commonwealth and found the firm's finances in such disarray that the company went under. The shortages totaled nearly three million dollars.

ADMITS FATAL OPERATION ON LEBANON GIRL

NEW YORK (AP)—A male nurse has testified that he performed a fatal abortion on a girl and then made a pact with her sweetheart to get rid of the body.

Leo Pijuan, 46, who turned state's evidence after a surprise guilty plea, testified against Thomas G. Daniel, 25, yesterday.

Daniel is still on trial in General Sessions Court for manslaughter in the death of Jacqueline Smith, 20, of Lebanon, Pa.

When the blonde fabrics designer allegedly died in a Christmas Eve abortion attempt, Pijuan said Daniel told him:

Indictment Possibilities "Only when there is a confession or a body, can they make an indictment. Otherwise they can prove nothing. In this case, I will report her missing."

Pijuan said he then told Daniel: "I will help you."

The Puerto Rican-born Pijuan then described to the jury how he hacked Jacqueline's body into 35 pieces, wrapped them in Christmas gift paper and tossed them into city trash baskets.

No trace of the body has been found.

As the case without a corpse moved into its third week, lawyers for Daniel said he will testify later in his own defense.

Daniel, formerly of Warren, Ohio, and Pijuan went on trial May 7 on manslaughter charges. The maximum penalty on conviction is 20 years in prison.

Last Friday Pijuan suddenly switched his plea from innocent to guilty.

The state claims Daniel refused to marry the girl after she became pregnant.

Pijuan testified it took him about 10 minutes to perform the abortion in Daniel's apartment. He continued:

"When I tell Daniel I was finished, Daniel says she was very pale. I took the (anesthesia) needle out of her arm and I told Daniel she was in shock."

Pijuan said he and Daniel group of state auditors were in the office, the two women quarreled over a missing account card and Mrs. Cannon called Miss Minnie a liar for saying she didn't know about the card.

Fifteen minutes later Mrs. Cannon was out of a job. But she told the auditors all she knew.

And on Dec. 16, they swooped down in a surprise check on Commonwealth and found the firm's finances in such disarray that the company went under. The shortages totaled nearly three million dollars.

James Roosevelt Denies Betrothal

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) denies that he has announced his engagement to Gladys Irene Owens, clerk in his Washington office, and to all inquiries he responds with a crisp "No comment."

Roosevelt is here for hearings of the House Small Business Committee. He said last night that he has not announced his engagement, despite published reports to the contrary, and he said all reports of such an announcement are in error.

worked over the body of the girl without success. The witness went on:

"Daniel say to me, 'Is she bad?' I say, 'Yes, she's in shock.' At least I could feel no pulse no more. I told Daniel, 'I told you this could be dangerous. You didn't believe it. Do you believe it now?'"

"I thought she was dead now, but I didn't want to tell Daniel because he was scared."

Dr. Ramiro Mireles, a friend of Pijuan, was called to the apartment.

Pronounced Dead As a state witness, Mireles has told of pronouncing Miss Smith dead.

Pijuan testified of a pact between himself and Daniel. He said they borrowed a car and transferred the dismembered body to Pijuan's apartment.

Daniel then left, Pijuan said, adding:

"I told him from here on I will take over and all day I stayed in my apartment cutting the torso into smaller pieces which I then wrapped up in some Christmas paper."

Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer ruled in advance of Pijuan's testimony that it was not binding on Daniel—that is, it could not in itself convict Daniel without substantiation by other state evidence.

Medication Stolen Another state witness, Dr. Gene Chan Szuto, a surgeon-anesthetist at Brooklyn's Bushwick Hospital, said a lethal dose of sodium pentathol disappeared from his operating room last Christmas eve. Pijuan worked as a male nurse in the same operating room.

The state claims Miss Smith may have died from a massive overdose of sodium pentathol, an anesthetic.

Schweitzer said he will schedule night sessions if necessary to end the trial this week.

Mother Hubbard's Cupboard

Southern corn fritters in Jefferson's home town

In March, 1825, with 40 students and seven faculty members. The university's first governing board included three of the first five Presidents of the United States: Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe and James Madison.

By LOUISE HUBBARD

Situated at the west end of Main Street, the red brick buildings with their snow white porticos are shaded by vast quantities of ancient trees. A tour of the gracious campus should include the Brooks Museum, the Rotunda, the Alderman Memorial Library, the Bayly Art Museum, and the McCormick Observatory (open by arrangement). This observatory replaced the one of Jefferson's time, which was among the first in America. You won't see many girls, as the school is fully co-educational only in the Summer.

In the Winter, just the professional and graduate schools admit women, with the exception of those in their third or fourth year, working for certain prescribed degrees. Primarily, it's a man's world—and yet a very beautiful one.

Virginia farms have always provided a bountiful food supply. About the only articles of diet they did not yield were tea, coffee, salt, molasses and rum. The Commonwealth is famed for its vegetable kingdom growths of Indian corn, wheat, oats, white and sweet potatoes, peanuts, apples and some berries. In Albemarle County they have cultivated the Albemarle Pippin which was Queen Victoria's favorite apple.

There are half a dozen AAA-approved hotels and restaurants in Charlottesville where motorists and tourists may obtain excellent, cleanly-served meals, some of which feature local dishes.

SOUTHERN CORN FRITTERS

A favorite dish of the hungry hordes is easy to make and there is no reason to confine its popularity to Virginia, so, want to try Corn Fritters? Mix two cups corn (freshly cooked or canned whole kernel) with three-fourths teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and one egg, lightly beaten. Add two teaspoons melted butter and one-half cup milk and mix well. Stir in two cups flour sifted with one teaspoon baking powder. Beat hard and drop by the spoonful into deep fat (370 degrees). When golden brown when the first session opened

13 KILLED IN 12 ACCIDENTS OVER WEEKEND

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirteen persons died in 12 accidents over the weekend—12 in motor vehicle mishaps and one in a fire. Two of the traffic accidents took three lives each and another claimed two victims.

Three brothers riding in an auto were killed in a head-on crash with a truck on Rt. 322 about 12 miles west of Meadville Saturday night. They were Thomas E. and David Elder, 20-year-old twins; and Richard Elder, 18, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Merle F. Elder of Sandy Lake R. 3.

A collision of two autos on Rt. 53 near Cresson killed Melvin Gonsman, 17, of Sankertown, and Stanley J. Skebeck Jr., 16, and Anthony Saccano, 16, both of Cresson.

James A. Shields, 36, Wattsburg R. 1, died Sunday of injuries suffered Saturday when his car crashed into two utility poles near Erie.

Other Fatalities

Thomas W. Brown Jr., a Gettysburg College freshman from Paxon Grove, was killed in York County Sunday night when a car went out of control and rolled over an embankment. Two companions were injured.

William Proper of Donegal R. D. was killed Saturday night in a two-car crash on Rt. 56 four miles north of Greenville.

A dump truck overturned near Gettysburg Friday night, killing Verne J. Criswell Jr., the driver,

Boy Falls Out Of Car Into Pizza Pie

DETROIT (AP)—A large pizza pie cushioned the head-first fall of a 10-year-old boy from a moving automobile yesterday.

The youngster, William Sheltart, was holding the Italian baked delicacy while riding with an older cousin, Thomas A. Esse. Esse made a sharp turn, the car door flew open and out toppled William—pizza and all.

He fell head-first, landed on the pizza and skidded across the paved street. His only wound was a bruised knee.

Methodists Name Superintendent

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Robert R. Croyle has been appointed superintendent of the Altoona district of the Methodist Church.

Dr. Croyle, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church in Clearfield since 1949, succeeds the Rev. Herbert W. Glasco who becomes pastor of the Clearfield Church.

The appointment was announced Saturday at the closing session of the church's annual Central Pennsylvania Conference. Dr. Croyle was a pastor of Methodist churches in Williamsport, Altoona and Milton before going to Clearfield.

and Richard D. Thompson, both of Gettysburg R. 2.

John Leon, 74, of Philadelphia died of suffocation in a fire which swept an abandoned house in which he was sleeping.

Robert L. Kennedy, 19, a sailor of Harrisburg R. 1, was fatally injured Friday night when his motorcycle struck an embankment near Middletown.

OUTBREAK IN CYPRIOT BRINGS DEATH, INJURY

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—One British soldier was killed and three other soldiers, two policemen and three civilians were wounded in bomb attacks and pitched battles with youthful Greek Cypriot demonstrators in Nicosia Monday.

The demonstrations, most violent for many days, started this morning when a crowd of schoolgirls paraded through Nicosia's main street carrying a huge Greek flag. It was the second day of schoolgirl demonstrations.

The procession formed as the girls left church services on the feast day of St. Constantine and St. Helena—a national and religious holiday for Greeks.

Two military jeeps raced to the scene. Troops piled out and fired tear gas shells. Then they made a baton charge to break up the parade.

The soldiers seized the flag but the girls fought back until the half dozen teen-age national servicemen were forced to abandon the banner.

Police and military vehicles roared up and were met by a hail of stones. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion.

Bursts Into Flames

A police jeep burst into flames. A bomb had apparently landed inside it. A British police officer and his Cypriot driver staggered out, covered with blood. They were given first aid at a nearby Greek pharmacy.

Troops of the South Staffordshire Regiment chased the demonstrators. Two more explosions were heard as the rioters lobbed more bombs at the soldiers who were baton-charging them and firing tear gas shells.

Halloween Slayer's Sentence Confirmed

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Supreme Court Monday upheld the conviction of Harry Gossard, 40, who was sentenced to death for the 1954 Halloween murder of a 6-year-old girl.

Gossard is scheduled to die in the electric chair during the week of June 4.

The Cambria County man was sentenced to death for the trick-or-treat slaying of Karen Mauk in a cemetery near her home.

No-bake pie crust: crushed ginger-snaps mixed with crushed vanilla wafers and melted butter or margarine.

HIGHLIGHTS

7:30—(7-13) HOLLYWOOD PRESENTS In the faded days of King Arthur, the source of the land was the Red Knight of Cornwall, whose evil spell upon the beautiful Maid Marian the fearless Sir Gawaine tried to break by the finding the answer to "The Deadly Riddle." Gig Young, host.

8:00—(2-9) PHIL SILVERS SHOW—"The Horse." Sgt. Bilko and his sidekicks pick up "for a song" an ailing race horse which they think can be cured and turned into a Nashua or a Native Dancer.

8:15—(1-11) BOB HOPE SHOW—Guests: Kim Novak, Ken Murray, Pearl Bailey, Lana, the Berard Brothers and an extra added attraction, Vic Damone.

8:30—(2-9) NAVY LOG—"Sacrifice." A racing plane storm and flight decks darkened on an aircraft carrier make death appear certain for 200 Navy pilots as an airmail pilot takes a desperate gamble.

(7-15) W. A. T. T. With a price of $1,000 on his head, Wyatt Earp becomes fair game for "hired guns" in "The Man Who Lied." Hugh O'Brian stars.

9:00—(2-9) GUY LOMBARDO'S DIAMOND JUBILEE—featuring Guy Lombardo as master of ceremonies with his orchestra, vocalist Elyse Rhodes and surprise guests.

(4-8-11) FIRESIDE THEATER—"Ride with the Executioner." A schoolteacher in a case of mistaken identity is terrorized at gunpoint by a pupil's father.

(7) DANNY THOMAS SHOW—"Sonnets from the Lebanese" with Hans Conried as guest. Enchanted by London's charm, Danny dreams he is Robert Browning; comedy with Jean Hagen.

9:30—(2-9) RED SKELTON SHOW—Red Skelton as "Freddie the Freeloader" discovers he has the amazing ability to predict the course of the stock market. Allen Jenkins will be a featured guest.

(4-8-11) PLAYWRIGHTS '56—"The Battle of the Bells." The courtroom trial of a woman who murdered her husband, and whose case brought about a change in English law.

(7) CAVALCADE THEATER—"Who Is Bryington?" The true story of Homer Bryington, the New York newspaperman who scooped his fellow Civil War correspondents with the news of the Battle of Gettysburg. Harry Morgan stars.

10:00—(2-9) $64,000 QUESTION—Hal March presents this most popular of quiz shows.

(7) TOMORROW'S CAREERS—The opportunities open to June graduates of American colleges and their reactions to these offers will be presented this evening.

10:30—(4) BIG TOWN—"Hit and Run." Editor Steve Wilson of the Illustrated Press probes a hit-and-run case during his paper's traffic safety campaign.
